

Work of Farm Bureau Described in Report

Numerous Activities of Ulster County Organization Outlined in Annual Report of Manager Kurdt—Work to Be Broadened—Every Branch of Farm Work Included in Year's Program.

The annual report of the Ulster County Farm and Home Bureau Association, farm department, Albert Kurdt, manager, which has been filed with the board of supervisors covers the period from December 1, 1927, to November 30, 1928. The report is as follows:

- I.—Cooperating Agencies.
  - A. United States Department of Agriculture.
  - B. New York State College of Agriculture.
  - C. Ulster County Board of Supervisors.
  - D. Ulster County Farm Bureau.
- II.—Form of Organization.

The Ulster County Farm Bureau is a membership organization. The paid membership for the year was nine hundred and fifty. This is an increase of seventy-six over the previous year. The membership includes some business men who are anxious to cooperate and help the work along. The membership is represented by directors and local committees.

II.—Board of Directors. The board of directors consists of nine men, elected for a three year term. They are elected from the membership at an annual meeting. An attempt is made to distribute the representation to various sections of the county. This board has the entire direction of finances, policies and managerial helps of the Farm Bureau.

III.—Community Committees. The members in each organized community meet annually and elect five or six men to represent them and take charge of the work in the community. Each committee meets at least twice a year. In the early spring to make up a community program of work, and in the fall to lay out the membership campaign and winter program. These committees arrange for all meetings and demonstrations for members in the respective communities.

IV.—Advisory Council. The entire group of committees from all organized communities and the directors, make up the advisory council. This council meets semi-annually. It is an advisory body to assist in formulating policies, ratifying the combined program of work and present county wide problems for solution.

C.—Organization. In 1928, nine hundred and fifty members supported the Farm Bureau by paying a membership fee of $5. They were distributed as follows:

King George Passed Fair Night, A Favorable Sign

Physicians State There Are Reasons to Hope That Recrudescence of Infection Which Caused Last Year's Temperature Is Being Moderated.

London, Dec. 5 (AP).—An anxious public learned today when a medical bulletin of King George's physicians was issued that the monarch was suffering from renewed activity of the infection in his chest. Previously an improvement in this condition had been reported, but today's bulletin stated that this was what had caused the disturbing rise in his temperature yesterday.

There was a measure of relief to the popular mind, however, in the announcement that there were reasons for hoping that this recrudescence was being moderated and also that the night had been a fairly comfortable one for the king.

There was nothing specific in the morning bulletin regarding the king's temperature. Nor was anything said as to how his heart was reacting to the long strain of illness which it had been strongly reiterated recently, was the vital point upon which the king's chances of recovery from his grave illness rested.

The physicians' bulletin. The bulletin was signed by Sir Stanley Hewitt and Lord Dawson of Penn and read: "The king has passed a fair night. There are reasons to hope that the recrudescence of the infection which caused the last rise of temperature is being moderated."

In palace quarters the physicians' morning report was regarded favorably. It was said that a recrudescence of the infection which caused yesterday's rise in temperature was considered as part of the ordinary course of the king's illness and as such had been expected by his doctors. The fact that His Majesty was able to obtain more rest again during the night was regarded as a favorable sign.

Illness Affects Merchandising. The proximity of the king's illness to the Christmas buying season produced a serious situation among British merchandising houses. Insurance offices reported following an increase to the prohibitive rate of 90 per cent of insurance against loss in event of the king's death, no more insurance could be had.

There has been a decided slump in the selling of women's colored gowns, coats and hats. Hotels stated that there had been a decrease in the numbers of reservations for Christmas and New Year parties. Guests from the country were holding up plans to come to London for the holidays.

HOLDS GIBSON RESPONSIBLE FOR ANGLO-FRENCH ACCORD

Paris, Dec. 5 (AP).—Aristide Briand, foreign minister, holds that Hugh Gibson, U. S. ambassador to Belgium, was responsible for the Anglo-French naval accord which the United States did not approve and which has been attacked by newspapers and statesmen in both Great Britain and the United States.

The foreign minister, reviewing France's foreign affairs in the Chamber of Deputies, said that Gibson, as delegate to the Geneva disarmament conference, invited other parties represented there to reach an understanding between themselves. Great Britain and France did this and communicated the agreement they reached to the United States and all other allies.

Referring to the pact for renunciation of war initiated by himself and Secretary Kellogg, Briand said it offered better guarantees of peace than its opponents granted it. The pact, he said, marks "a halt in the career of all wars and creates an atmosphere of real peace."

"When 50 or more nations solemnly ratify and sign a document which considers war a crime, it is not a vain gesture. "Until now war was a legal institution; today it is outlawed as a crime."

The pact, he added, might possibly be torn up by some nation. But he said that that nation would be placed in a grave situation toward the other signatories and "terrible catastrophes would be invited."

Governmental Economy Urged In Budget Message

President Coolidge Submits Budget for 1930, Showing Estimated Surplus of $60,000,000 Which Offers No Immediate Prospect of Further Tax Reduction—Budget Calls For Over Three and Three-Quarter Billion Dollars.

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP).—Voicing again his plea for governmental economy, President Coolidge submitted to Congress today a budget for the fiscal year 1930, calling for expenditures of $3,750,719,847, leaving the treasury with an estimated $60,576,182 surplus which he declared offered no immediate prospect of further tax reduction.

The estimated surplus, which would be available June 30, 1930, is based upon expected revenue totaling $3,841,295,829. Describing the surplus as small, the President said it was nevertheless "satisfactory as it points to a balanced budget."

Mr. Coolidge warned Congress that "it is clear that we cannot assume any great additional expenditure without jeopardizing this favorable outlook."

"We are committed irrevocably to a balanced budget," he said, "and that carries the assurance that the only revision of our tax laws which will be considered is a revision downward. We have no immediate prospect of any further reduction in tax rates; but we have no thought of curtailing in any way the benefits which have come to the people by the four reductions already made in taxes."

1929 Outlook "Not So Bright." Giving an account also of the progress of fiscal affairs for the current year, the President said the outlook for 1929 "is not so bright."

Referring to budget estimates that predicted a surplus of $22,540,282 at the close of this fiscal year next June 30, Mr. Coolidge observed that "this forecast has been materially changed." He recalled that the "best estimate" at the beginning of the year envisaged a $54,000,000 deficit and now with the year nearing the half-way mark he declared it "most gratifying" that a surplus of $36,996,182 is in prospect. The President did not detail the factors which had revised the outlook.

The total appropriations recommended by the President to pay for governmental operations during the year beginning next July 1, exceed those in last year's budget by $223,762,618.

The largest outlay is for national defense, $648,511,300. For the army and navy, including non-military items, the total is compared with $648,000,000 carried in this year's budget and an estimated expenditure for the current year of $672,844,288.

The estimated expenditures for national defense next year, the President said, would total $668,277,712 for 1930. The increase is held chiefly due to the fact that surplus supplies left over from the war have been used and it is now necessary to increase the cash provision to replace the reserves.

Care of War Veterans. The next largest item in the budget is for the care of war veterans, expenses under this subdivision being estimated to total $597,375,000 for next year, an increase of $26,871,520 over the estimated cost of this year.

Flood control cost is fixed at $31,000,000 for 1930 and the executive said that if it should develop that more money was needed a further estimate would be presented to Congress.

French Debt Discussed. In his message President Coolidge called attention to the French debt, observing that on August 1, 1929, bonds of the French government, amounting to $400,000,000 will mature. These bonds were issued in payment for supplies this government had in France at the close of the war. France also purchased supplies from the Army amounting to $7,341,145, which becomes due in 1930.

The President said that these amounts were not included in the budget because they were merged in the debt settlement agreement with France of 1926 which planned to extend payment of the French debt over a period of 62 years. If the debt agreement is ratified by France the President urged that the agreement be promptly ratified by Congress.

If the agreement is not ratified the Executive said the money should be applied to retirement of war debt and not be treated as current expenses.

Outlay For Navy and Army. The budget calls for an outlay for the Navy next year of $13,905,939 (Continued on Page 3).

Married Fuss But Did Not Love Him. Girl Seeking Annulment of Marriage Says She Never Cared for Peter Fuss But Married Because He Could Provide Her With Things She Wanted.

Action for the annulment of the marriage of Emma Roche Fuss to Peter Fuss of this city was commenced in Supreme court Tuesday before Judge Russell without a jury. The action is brought on the grounds that the plaintiff at the time of her marriage in February, 1925, was but 16 years of age and that her parents did not give their consent to the marriage. Her mother testified that it was not until a month after the marriage that she knew of the marriage.

Plaintiff testified she was born in June, 1908, and when 15 years old had married a man at Chicago but found living with him two weeks she found he was married and had two children. She left him and that marriage was annulled.

She then came to Tilson and stopped with her sister and there met Fuss and after a short courtship married him in February at the "Little Church Around the Corner" in New York. They resided together on Hone street for about four months and then she left him because of harsh treatment and the language which he used. After residing apart for a few weeks she returned and they went to live at Blue Stone Inn on Warrist street. There they resided until April, 1926, when she left and went to reside with her sister at Tilson. She has not returned since.

The day she left she testified her sister had come to visit her and after Fuss had given her $100 with which to go shopping in New York city she changed her mind and went home with her sister without notifying Fuss.

On cross-examination she testified that Fuss had given her many presents and things which she wanted including a saddle horse, automobile, motorboat, fur coats and diamonds. Plaintiff said she had never cared for Fuss but had married him because he could provide her with things which she wanted.

Chris J. Flanagan appeared for plaintiff and A. J. Cook for defendant. The case was continued before the court with the public excluded from the courtroom. At the close of the case Judge Russell reserved decision.

Canadian Border Liquor Smuggling Serious Problem

Commissioner Doran Suggests Revision of Canadian Liquor Treaty To Prevent Canada From Clearing Liquor Cargoes To This Country.

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP).—Liquor smuggling over the Canadian border, in the opinion of Prohibition Commissioner Doran, presents the most serious problem in dry law enforcement today. To correct it he suggests a revision of the Canadian liquor treaty to prevent Canada from clearing liquor cargoes to this country.

Dr. Doran made this statement before a House appropriations subcommittee at hearings, made public today, on the treasury supply bill. The commissioner said that notwithstanding the fact that the coast guard has operated to break up near-by rum-runners, there is still a large movement of liquor into the United States from European ports, the French island of St. Pierre, and from some Central American and Mexican ports. The largest quantity, however, he said, comes in from Canada, and seven-eighths of it through the Detroit gateway.

While the amount of liquor moving into the interior of this country has been reduced, Doran said, the present treaty, stipulating merely that liquor ship clearances from her ports, "as a good and sufficient background for take liquor labels and for fraudulent strip stamps, indicating bottles in bond whiskey, both in Canada and in the United States."

Under the new policy of controlling industrial alcohol production at the source, Doran said distilling of illicit liquor had been reduced. The present supply, he added, is to a large extent smuggled or made in this country from raw materials, principally corn sugar and grain.

Indicates Progress. "That indicates a progress in enforcement," said Doran, "but we think it is quite favorable, and it has relieved the industrial trade to some considerable extent of the odium of being responsible in their trades for a large diversion of industrial alcohol."

The breaking down of illicit distilling from large to small plants, the commissioner said, had increased the need of cooperation in enforcement from local officials. This has been forthcoming in some sections, he added, but in others there had been not only passive but "active and hearty" opposition.

Asked by Representative Wood, Republican, Indiana, chairman of the subcommittee, to elaborate on this point, Doran said his force had "no cooperation in the state of Maryland other than the sheriffs of some of the counties where they have local option laws."

For New York, he said cooperation was given only to the extent that state troopers upstate make cases and turn them over to already overcrowded federal courts, and through a great many minor cases turned in by New York city police which have to be taken care of on "bargain days in United States courts and disposed of on pleas of guilty with fines of $10 or $15."

Reference also was made to the Philadelphia situation, where Doran said there had been "not only a lack of active cooperation, but a very bad situation in the police department."

"Brightening up a little bit," as far as federal enforcement is concerned, he said, "a great deal could be done there yet." Up to last spring, he continued, there was practically no cooperation from Chicago police.

N. Y. Restaurants Were Brazen. Asked by Representative Bacon, Republican, New York, the reason for the recent restaurant raids in New York city, Dr. Doran said the cause was that they were "violating the law openly and brazenly, and it was becoming a matter of very great public comment, not only in New York, but on the part of those who visited that city. The commissioner later corrected his statement, saying he did not wish to say the restaurants were "actually violating the law until the jury said so."

Dr. Doran said he believes that while the new law requiring dry officers and agents to stand civil service examination will work out satisfactorily in the end, such a merit system "per se does not purchase honesty" and some hired under it have had to be discharged. He said that of 30,000 who stood the first civil service examination only about 3,500 passed. This, he said, was due to the listing of questions wholly inapplicable to the prohibition service; questions which Chairman Wood of the subcommittee said had "just as much application to an effective prohibition enforcement agent as the devil has to be viceregent of Heaven."

Caught Stealing Rolls. This morning about 5:30 o'clock Officer Reardon caught two young boys, one white and the other colored, stealing rolls from the hallway of the Stone building at Broadway and East Union street. The boys were locked up in jail and their parents notified. Later in the day the boys were to be arraigned in children's court before Judge Fowler. The white boy was 12 years old and the colored lad was 15 years old.

Doctors Deplore Slow Action on T.B. Hospital

Inactivity on Part of Board of Supervisors Assailed at Annual Meeting of Ulster County Medical Society—Dr. Snyder Elected President—Other Matters.

The annual meeting of the Ulster County Medical Society was held Tuesday evening in the Governor Clinton Hotel at which time the largest attendance of the year took active part in the business of the session.

Dr. A. A. Stern moved that a page be set aside in the minutes of the 1928 session in memory of the members who died during the year. The members lost to the society by death during the year were: Dr. John G. O'Leary, Dr. Daniel Connelly, Dr. Henry Van Hoevenberg, Dr. A. P. Chalker and Dr. Crawford.

The election of officers was the next order of business and resulted as follows: President, Dr. Frederick Snyder; vice president, Dr. E. F. Sibley; treasurer, Dr. Chester V. Van Gaasbeek, and secretary, Dr. Fred H. Voss.

The treasurer's report was then given.

Deplore Action on T. B. Hospital. The committee on the erection of the Tuberculosis Hospital of Ulster county reported the slow progress and inactivity on the part of the board of supervisors of Ulster county in appropriating sufficient funds for the erection of the hospital. It was brought out that the state department had made their appropriation up by the supervisors. Great discussion followed on the apparent apathy of the supervisors to help prevent the spread of this dread disease.

Dr. Larkin, delegate, reported on the third district branch meeting held at Hudson, N. Y.

Courses Recommended. Recommendation was given supporting the courses offered by Columbia University extension post graduate instructions for doctors of the county. These instructions will be given at the Benedictine Hospital during the winter months. Any physician desiring to take this post graduate work should apply to Dr. Mark O'Meara, chairman.

Retiring President's Address. Dr. John F. Larkin, the retiring president, before presenting the grave to the incoming president, Dr. Snyder, stressed the point that Ulster County Medical Society was one of the oldest in the state having been founded in 1896. He also told of the advancement made in their work throughout the county and of the two well equipped hospitals in the city. He emphatically expressed the importance of the erection of the Tuberculosis Hospital.

Dr. Snyder then presided and asked the cooperation of the membership during his ensuing term of office. He also stated that every effort should be made to bring out the scientific work of the doctors of the county instead of importing them from other cities.

Four New Members. The following were admitted to membership: Dr. Krum, Dr. Hugel, Dr. Malone and Dr. Rollins.

A scientific paper on gall bladder was then read by Dr. Snyder and discussion from the surgical standpoint was heard from Doctors O'Meara, Sibley, Jacobson and O'Connor and from the medical from Doctors Holcomb and Voss.

Dr. Mary Gage-Day was appointed secretary pro tem while Dr. Voss will be studying in Europe. The meeting then adjourned and a beef steak supper enjoyed.

GOVERNOR ORDERS NO PARKING ON CAPITOL HILL

Albany, Dec. 5 (AP).—It is Governor Smith's contention that when the state spends $2,000,000 for a park, the purchase should not be concealed by rows of parked automobiles. In a statement issued last night, the governor warned state employees against parking their cars on Capitol Hill. Long lines of cars ranked about the capitol, state educational building and the new park east of the educational building prompted the governor's announcement.

"The state only recently expended $2,000,000 for a new park which it is impossible to see because of the number of automobiles parked in Washington avenue and Hawk street," said the governor's statement. Governor Smith has instructed state police to enforce his order.

The common council Tuesday evening by a vote of 12 to 1 adopted an amendment to the city zoning ordinance which will permit the Manhattan Shirt Company to enlarge its factory on Hoffman street. The amendment was adopted at a meeting of the council held at the close of a public hearing at which objections to the extension of the industrial zone on Hoffman street were voiced by Olie Crispell, John O'Reilly and Alderman James T. O'Reilly of the Ninth ward, in which ward the factory is located.

Under the provisions of the zoning ordinance adopted last August, any amendment proposed to the ordinance must first be submitted to the public at a public hearing, and in carrying out that provision of the ordinance a public hearing on the proposed amendment, which had been approved by the laws and rules committee of the council, was held in the city court room in the Municipal Building on East O'Reilly street.

The hearing was presided over by Alderman Kelyea who had City Clerk George W. Moore read the proposed amendment which, in brief, extends the industrial zone on Hoffman street an additional 50 feet. In response to Alderman Kelyea's query it there were any persons desiring to be heard Olie Crispell of 34 Hoffman street was granted the privilege of the floor.

Mr. Crispell called attention to the petition that had been filed with the council signed by a majority of the property owners on Hoffman street opposing any change in the zoning on that street. He said that his residence was located across the street from the proposed addition to the shirt factory and that the erection of the addition to the plant would depreciate his property fully $2,000. He said he had talked to the real estate man from whom he had bought the property some years ago, and the real estate man had told him that he might just as well "dump $3,000 out in the street if the addition was built." In closing he asked the council not to adopt the proposed amendment as it would damage not only his property but other residential properties on the street.

Supt. Thomas Speaks. Superintendent Henry Thomas of the Manhattan Shirt Company, who followed Mr. Crispell, said he did not think it would injure anyone to allow the factory to expand. He said that when the company had first located on Hoffman street they had purchased the lot on which the plant now stands and which before that was used only as a dumping ground. The erection of the factory had improved the property.

"Not a Dump" Said O'Reilly. Alderman O'Reilly objected to the remarks of Superintendent Thomas that the lot had been used as a dumping ground before the factory was built. He said that since the factory was in operation an accumulation of boxes had been piled on the Broadway side of the building, forming a fire hazard to which he had called the fire chief's attention. Since then conditions had been somewhat improved.

John O'Reilly Opposed. John O'Reilly said he was opposed to the adoption of the proposed amendment and urged that the zoning law be left as it was. He also said that it would cause property values on Hoffman street to depreciate if the plant should be enlarged.

In closing he said he would like to ask Superintendent Thomas one question: "Did not the Chamber of Commerce object to your factory locating in Kingston?"

C. of C. Did Object. Superintendent Thomas said that it was true that about twelve years ago the Chamber of Commerce had objected to the factory locating in Kingston but that was largely due to the fact that the then secretary of the organization believed that there were too many factories in the city employing female help. Mr. Thomas said that in the years that had passed the Chamber of Commerce had changed considerably.

What C. of C. Believes. E. Frank Flanagan, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said that since the Chamber of Commerce had been mentioned he desired to say that the Chamber of Commerce of today was not the same organization of twelve or fifteen years ago. Today they are anxious not only to locate new factories and industries in Kingston but to aid present plants here to enlarge. The Chamber of Commerce of fifteen years ago that tried to be factories away so that the wage scale in the city would not be affected was not the organization of today that believed in more factories, and in better wages for the factory employes so that living conditions would be improved.

If the factory was not already on Hoffman street, it would not be located there.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

New York—Mrs. Paul Dehannet, the former Mrs. Jean Nash, has abdicated. Sometimes called the best dressed woman in the world, she said on arriving from France that she was no longer in the running. Also she remarked: "Shirts are getting terribly long."

London—Lady Astor is in the Army of Reds? Well, that's how the Laborite members twisted her when she appeared in Commons in a flaming gown with hat to match, instead of her usual sombre hues.

Marlboro, Mass.—Chief Brown of the fire department wants high heels forbidden to high school girls because of the danger of catching in fire escapes. He asked the school board to bar them, the board referred it to the faculty, and the faculty passed the buck to the parents.

Iowa City, Ia.—The girls seem to be putting on weight. In 1924 the average height of those entering the University of Iowa was 63 inches and the weight 113.9 pounds. Latest figures 63.5 and 119.

New York—O. H. Caldwell, federal radio commissioner, thinks the radio equalization law is a "lemon" but, he said at a banquet, the commission is trying to make it into lemonade for listeners in.

Los Angeles—Mrs. Violet Merchant's story is that she agreed to a divorce on condition that her husband remarry her when certain property matters had been settled. He married another. Mrs. Merchant is suing for $50,000 for breach of promise.

New York—Louis A. Hazeltine, professor of electrical engineering at Stevens Institute, prefers the study of pure mathematics to greater wealth. Having made a fortune through invention of the neodymium radio principle, he is foregoing the opportunity for more money and is removing to Oakland, Cal., to do research and write.

Washington—The shortest autobiography in the latest Congressional Directory follows: "F. H. Laguardia." The longest is that of Mr. Blanton. It takes a page.

New York—Mayor Walker knows how to play both ends and middle when it comes to football. He had the Police Band blare for Stanford. Of course he's been hot for N. Y. U. Tomorrow night he is to address a Notre Dame dinner at South Bend.

Talcazo, Ecuador—Twins here have been named Herbert and Hoover.

New York—There's a possibility that the courts must decide whether anybody can produce a melodrama in which one of the characters is tied to a railroad track. That's a feature of "After Dark, or Neither Maid, Wife nor Widow", which Christopher Morley intends to put on. Warning has been given Morley by William A. Brady that Brady bought the play from Dion Boucicault in 1890. Morley insists that since the play is 60 years old it is public property.

Governmental Economy Urged

less than the cost of its estimated operation this year. In asking for $39,125,482 for the department, the President said that it would have available an additional $2,000,000 from the naval supply account. The appropriation will provide for the continuing of the work on naval vessels now under construction, for commencing work on three remaining fleet submarines, for continuing the five year program for development of naval aeroplanes and for completion of the dredging of Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

The Army is allotted $444,485,222, and increase of $31,959,053. Of the increase, $20,000,000 is listed as a deficiency for 1928, leaving an actual increase for 1929 of $12,000,000. This is due, the executive said, to automatic advance of officers to higher pay, an increase in the officer strength of the army in order to provide Air Corps officers, an increase in the amount for the housing program, an increase in the amount for the Air Corps provided under the five year expansion program and an increase in the amounts required for food control work on the Mississippi and Sacramento rivers.

Aviation Activities

The aviation activities of the government draw $140,531,824 in the estimates.

"The demands of this service, while large, have been adequately met," the executive said. "The five year program for the Army and Navy is approaching completion. Provision is made in these estimates for the third year increment of the Army and the fourth year increment of the Navy, and it is fair assumption that at the end of 1931 the Navy will have a well-balanced fleet of 1,000 airplanes, while at the end of 1932 the Army will be in possession of 1,800 planes in proper proportion as to types.

"The expansion of air activities, however, is by no means confined to the Army and Navy. The Department of Commerce, the Coast Guard and the Department of Agriculture are playing their parts in developing the air as is the National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics. While the post office definitely retired from the business of carrying mails in 1928, there is provided for 1929 for contract air mail service in the United States $14,300,000 and $4,000,000 additional for foreign air mail. These estimates carry $6,427,260 for the Department of Commerce.

Ulster Farmers on Marketing Trip

Through the Ulster County Farm Bureau in cooperation with the Agricultural Department of the New York Central Railroad, a three day Marketing Trip to New York City is being arranged. This trip will take place December 10, 11 and 12. The party will start from Kingston Sunday night, December 9, on the 6:50 train. This train leaves Highland at 7:19 and Marlborough at 7:31.

The trip is primarily arranged for Ulster county farmers but other interested persons are cordially invited. Special rates have been secured at the hotel as well as special rates for travel by bus while in New York. The entire expense of the trip will be less than $30.

Reservations for the trip should be made at once in the Farm Bureau Office or directly to Albert Kurdt, manager. A letter received from Mr. Marsh of the Pennsylvania Railroad states that Monday, December 10, will be an exceptional day to visit the terminal, because there will be a real market on that morning. Letters from other persons indicate that the trip will be unusually interesting.

Dance at Pythian Hall.

The Public Debt.

Requirements of reduction in the public debt, and interest on the public debt, added more than a billion dollars to the budget total. Sinking requirements for 1929 are estimated at $379,524,129, an increase of approximately $9,350,000 over the estimates for the current year while other redemptions of public debt it was estimated would require $173,543,500. An increase of approximately $1,260,000. The principal of the public debt $532,067,629, an increase of $11,000,000 was allowed and interest on the public debt was estimated at $640,000,000, a decrease of $35,000,000.

Departmental Appropriations.

The Post Office Department was allotted a total of $616,209,325, an increase of $11,504,450; the Department of Agriculture expenditures for 1930 were estimated at $157,018,921, an increase of $4,899,770, while the Department of Commerce estimated expenditures were $58,459,749, an increase of $1,367,729. The increase in the cost of operation of the Post Office Department, the report said, was due principally to legislation enacted by Congress and the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission increasing compensation to the railroads for transporting mail.

The estimates of cost of the Treasury Department for the next year was placed at $341,655,615, an increase of $10,359,530 over this year's estimated cost.

Provision is made in the estimates for carrying on the $290,000,000 public buildings program with a total of $28,049,000 to meet the 1930 requirement.

Estimated Receipts and Expenditures

The estimated receipts and expenditures for the government for the next fiscal year are given in this table:

Dame Fashion Smiles

By Grace Jewett Austin

Grace J. Austin

Whatever did poor Eve do without any of the attractive show windows? Dame Fashion couldn't help but meditate on this the other day when she was having the serene and satisfying pleasure of wandering around among great islanded shop windows and feasting on that delightful mixture of admiration and imagination-ownership which is the satisfactory mood in which to do such inspection.

Quite a while ago—indeed so long that the radio-concerns do not bring it to life again—there was a popular dialect song of which Dame Fashion remembers hazily a part of the chorus:

"Sprees yourself, honey; now jes' 'spress yourself!"

When you come right down to it, could there be a much better slogan for rules of dressing? If you wake up in the morning, and the world seems "greenery-gallery" as people said when they joked about the esthetic school of Oscar Wilde's time, yet if you know in reality that the world is pink with many blessings and good times ahead, for goodness' sake, do pick out a pink house gown in which to come down to breakfast.

Dame Fashion stood looking with admiring eyes at a row of brown velvet gowns, worn by smiling wax models in a show window, all shimmering and radiant. Along came a lady who remarked, "They say Worth would not make a brown gown for a woman over forty, so I suppose I cannot have one." Dame Fashion nearly shrieked at her to go at once and get one if she wanted it. If brown velvet expresses the mood for you, you ought to choose it if you are bordering on a hundred.

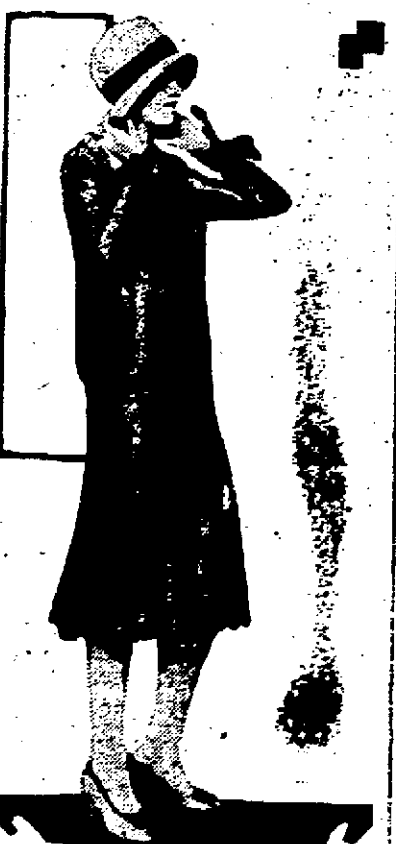

Just recently at a large woman's club luncheon of nearly two hundred finely gowned women Dame Fashion happened to be sitting near the president of the club as she made her address of welcome, and admiration was divided between the clear-cut words of the talk, and the beautiful gown worn by the president. Maybe part of the delight caused came from the pleasure of saying, "I told you so"—even if it is said only to one's self. Recently Dame Fashion had been following out the theory that pretty gowns deserve pretty names, just as the French modistes apply them.

Mentally, Dame Fashion named Mrs. President's dress "Palm Beach" at once, for it had the shimmering gold of sandy beach, and it had bands of green like Southern seawater. Best of all, it was adorned at the side-front with real palms, while just above the plaited skirt there roamed a most engaging sea turtle, in pictured form! Speaking of names reminds of these little lines that show how fruit names are creeping into wearing materials:

Put on your shoes of burgundy.
With hose of honey-dew.
Pick out a gown of gooseberry green.
With peach of gorgeous hue.

With hat of plum, pulled over one ear,
You'll look so very sweet.
That every watcher will say,
"She's good enough to eat!"

Ad Writer's Idea of Great American Home

According to the advertisements it is a private residence and gentleman's estate and built of certified lumber and southern pine, the aristocrat of soft woods bought direct from the mills, and colored stucco, hollow tile, concrete for permanence, sheet steel for every purpose, the inherent charm of stone, and brick that is cheaper in the long run, and it is covered with everlasting shingles, lined with cork insulation, appointed with correct hardware, painted with imperishable colors, heated with an absolutely silent oil furnace and radiators from a world institute of heating that blankets interiors made so with lacquer, beautiful ceilings, screens that last, a modern breakfast nook inspired by Old world craftsmanship, the secret of lovely oak floors, the last word in living room style that turns into a bedroom at night, the recognized leader of all coal windows, the utmost in sanitary engineering, instant hot water from plumbing fixtures with finest quality of brass pipes that contain more copper, and bathroom luxury used on Park avenue yet priced low enough for the most modest cottage, and is delectably located in a fast-growing community with rising values and filled with period furniture, genuine Bruelem, and music from radios, phonographs and grand pianos used by the famous and bought on the installment plan with a small down payment or what have you?—Kansas City Star.

THE EARTH GAINS WEIGHT.

It seems that Mother Earth is no exception among the members of her sex who in nearly all cases put on weight with the advancing years. But it is somewhat startling to learn that in the course of thirty years her weight has increased 592,000,000,000,000,000 tons. For if she continues to add to her avoirdupois at such a rate, may not the time come when, overpowered by her own prodigious embonpoint, she will be unable to toddle along her orbit, around the sun, or even to turn on her axis in order to make day and night? The prospect would be appalling indeed, were not a loophole of escape from such terrific tragedy provided by the possibility of slightly inaccurate figuring.

Thirty years ago Mother Earth was "weighed" independently by a scientist in Great Britain and a Jesuit teacher in Bohemia, their figures being in substantial agreement; but now, after five years of effort in a chamber 35 feet below ground, Dr. Paul H. Heyl of the United States Bureau of Standards, "the first American to weigh the earth," announces that the ponderous old lady is 592 quintillion tons heavier than was formerly believed. Obviously he could not put her on any sort of scales, and explains that he figured it out on the basis of her "gravitational attraction for other (heavenly) bodies." Though he may be more exact than the British scientist and Bohemian Jesuit (who knows?), it is not unlikely that some future weigher will vary to an even greater degree. Meanwhile it is gratifying to know that Mother Earth is doing her daily business and following her appointed pathway through etherial realms in a perfectly satisfactory manner, whatever her weight may be.

"LATIN-AMERICANS."

Correspondents traveling with Mr. Hoover report that they find the nations they are visiting sensitive and resentful about being called "Latin-Americans." They prefer to be called Nicaraguans or Ecuadorians or Peruvians or Brazilians or Argentinians, as the case may be. They admit their common infusion of Latin blood, and are not at all ashamed of it, though they think of it rather as Spanish or Portuguese than Latin. But they are strongly nationalistic. They recognize no such entity as "Latin-America." They say they do not call us and our Canadian neighbors "English-Americans."

We do not want to be discourteous, but what can we do about it? We naturally refer to Mexicans as Mexicans, Cubans as Cubans, to Bolivians as Bolivians, and so on, when speaking of them alone. But we need a term that applies to the whole group of nations in this hemisphere whose blood and culture are dominated by Latin rather than by Anglo-Saxon elements.

If they will provide some other term that will serve the purpose as well, we'll agree to adopt it. Meanwhile they should understand that no North American uses the word "Latin-American" as a term of disrespect.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT.

Comparisons between federal and local government are often unfair to the latter. It is true that the cost of the national government has fallen since the war, and the cost of local government has risen considerably, with no sign of reduction. But the situation is quite different in the two cases.

It was the federal government, not the municipal government, that was fighting the war and bearing the big expense. Naturally that expense increased with peace and reconstruction. A war government has simply got back to a peace basis, as far as the hamper of war costs permits. The federal government is doing for citizens how just about what it did before the war.

Local government of any kind—municipal, school, county, etc.—almost invariably is doing far worse for its people than it did before the war. We have better roads, better sewers, better water systems, bigger and more efficient police forces and fire departments, and much better schools. This costs money. A community, like a family or an individual, usually gets about what it pays for.

Mrs. Elmer Zimmerman of Chicago, filing suit for divorce, explains: "I couldn't get him up in the morning. So I bought an alarm clock. That didn't help, so I bought another. Finally I had 12 clocks all set for the same minute beside his bed every morning. But it didn't do any good." Few will grade Mrs. Zimmerman her divorce. Husbands should get up and get out and earn a living for their wives. Yet there's another side to it. Wouldn't any man have grounds for divorce if his wife wound 12 alarm clocks and set them all beside his ear after he went to bed?

EDITORIAL.
 Bridge has a rival in the new card game invented by the English pacifist, Norman Angell, "which illustrates the workings of the industrial and financial system" and "is played with a pack of 100 cards divided into ten suits" and is said to be amusing and to provide "unlimited room for skill." The description hardly suggests the light recreation suitable for the tired business man or any other person with a tired head.

The Democratic National Committee spent $4,845,744 trying to elect a President, and "the complete statement of the Republican National Committee will probably show that it spent one million dollars more than the Democrats did." The figures are supposed to refer only to what are known as "legitimate" costs, including the expensive radio. It is generally conceded that national elections can not be bought.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

BY James W. Barton, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act)

MAKING YOURSELF OLD.

Your work is such that you can sit at a desk all day; perhaps you stand occasionally or walk into another room or even up a stairway. But as far as real physical work is concerned you simply don't do it. However you have always been blessed with a good appetite, and enjoy your meals. In fact you find you are eating as much, if not more, than when you were doing hard physical work outdoors.

What is going to happen to all this extra food that is not used up by the cells of the body now that you are doing no real work? It is quite possible that a considerable portion of it will not be completely used up by the cells, and these half used or half burned products then enter the blood and act as a sort of poison there. This poison has a tendency to irritate the walls of the blood vessels, inflame them, and the natural lining and elastic tissue is replaced by a hard tissue just as the natural flesh is replaced by scar tissue after a burn.

Naturally then blood vessels that have hard unresisting walls, make the heart pump the blood harder through them, and this is called high blood pressure.

Now any poison in the blood from teeth, tonsils, gall bladder, waste from intestine and so forth, causes the same condition and hence high blood pressure. This means then that high blood pressure can be due to poisons from inside parts of the body, or from food that has not been completely digested.

Court Nihan's Thanksgiving social held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Tortorella on the New Palatz and Highland road was a very enjoyable event for every one who attended.

About 75 members and friends took part in the games and dancing. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. Adeline Ackert of Rhinebeck is spending some time in town visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Paltridge of Modena were visitors in town Friday afternoon.

P.-T. A. NO. 4 HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

The Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 4 held a meeting on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Edwin Lampman gave an interesting report of the district county presidents' conference held at the High School on November 3.

It was voted to authorize Principal Van Valkenburgh to purchase Christmas candy for the first four grades.

Miss Winifred Sullivan was appointed chairman of the annual entertainment which will be given some time after the holidays by the school children.

The president, Mrs. R. H. Van Valkenburgh appointed Mrs. W. R. Anderson to represent her at an executive meeting of the Federated Council to be held on Wednesday evening at the home of its president, Mrs. Arthur H. Russell.

The principal spoke of the 600 beautiful stereoscopic pictures taken from all over the world and 12 stereoscopes through which to view them, which Campbell Staples bought as a parting gift to the school when he was graduated.

An opportunity had been given to the school to purchase more views of this kind and stereoscopes at a reasonable rate and Principal Van Valkenburgh was authorized to investigate the same with a view to buying any that were suitable for educational purposes.

NEW HURLEY.

New Hurley, Dec. 5.—The W. C. T. U. will hold a pot luck lunch at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Zimmerman Thursday evening, December 6.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Schoonmaker and Mr. and Mrs. Gerow Schoonmaker and little daughter, June, spent Thanksgiving day with Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Strivings at Leptendale.

There was a large attendance at the anniversary service held in the church last Sunday morning and the pastor delivered a very inspiring sermon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clide Gerlings of Lowville, N. Y., spent Thanksgiving and the week end with Mrs. Gerlings' parents, the Rev. and Mrs. A. Von Arendonk.

Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Cocks and family of New York city spent the week end at their home here.

Mrs. I. Sutton and daughters, Mrs. Edward Powell and Miss Bertha Sutton, attended a W. C. T. U. meeting at the home of Mrs. J. W. Taylor at Plattkill last Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Denniston entertained Mr. and Mrs. Josiah LeFevre of New Palatz, Mr. and Mrs. Gerow Wilkins and son, James, and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Denniston and son at their home last Thursday.

Miss Kathryn Hotelling of Albany returned home Sunday after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hotelling.

Even though the weather was very stormy there was a large attendance at the social held at the Wilkins home last Friday evening. The net proceeds will be announced later.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Powell and son spent Sunday with Mrs. Martha Whitmore and sister at Plattkill.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Extremely broad tuning characterized reception Monday and Tuesday evenings, evidently due to an atmospheric condition, as it is reported from widely separated points and on many kinds of sets. It was at times almost impossible to tune in even the strongest stations without interference from one or more other stations.

The Atwater Kent Radio Hour will be presented by three nationally known artists, Sunday night, Hulda Lashanska, lyric soprano, Toscha Selander the Russian violinist, and Wilbur Evans, bass-baritone and winner of first place in the Atwater Kent Radio Audition, last year.

The Atwater Kent Orchestra under the direction of Josef Pasternack will open the concert with the popular "Epithalamium" from Lohengrin which raises the curtain on the third act. Other orchestral numbers are the Adagio, from L'Arlésienne Suite of Bizet, and Florida, from the Carnival Venitien of Burghelm.

A program of the most popular musical comedy hits of 1928 will be presented in the Bulck Hour of the General Motors Family Party on Monday evening by a concert orchestra under the direction of Frank Black, a quartet and two soloists, Nancy Holbrook, soprano, and Robert Adams, tenor. Among the selections will be songs from "The Scandals," "Hold Everything," "Three Cheers," "Show Boat," "The Desert Song," "The Connecticut Yankee," and others.

Andy Samella, instrumentalist of the Stromberg-Carlson musicians will embellish the program of Friday, December 7, by playing as a saxophone solo the ever-popular "Glan, Inla Mia" from Friml's light opera "The Firefly." On this program given through WJZ and associated stations from 10 to 10:30, Godfrey Ludlow, violinist, offers one of the best known of Schubert's compositions, "Cradle Song." The male quartet will sing among other selections the familiar "Mocking Bird" and "Kentucky Babe."

The songs of Robert Schumann will be the theme of the part of the Old Company's series of programs featuring Reinold Werrenrath. This weekly half hour of instructive melody will be heard over the NBC System on Sunday night, December 8, at 7 o'clock. "Widmung," "Die Lotoslilie" and "Ich Grolle Nicht" are among the selections which will be sung. "The Two Grenadiers" with which Werrenrath closes his program, is Schumann's tribute to the faithful French Grenadier. A few notes of "La Marseillaise" are employed in this composition.

Motors on China's Rivers.

Tientsin (P).—American-made outboard motors are adding a bit of noise to the usually quiet traffic on China's Hai Ho river and other waterways of the north, where sails and cars alone have been used. The shallow streams bar the use of larger vessels and the outboard motor boats have become a popular means of travel in a section which lacks rail and road facilities.

Card Party Tonight.

There will be a card party tonight at the Polish A. C. C. Club, 460 Delaware avenue. The public is invited.

Custom Is Old One.

There is evidence of the custom of saving grace before meals being observed as early as the Third century.

Christian's Christmas Be Different?

Luke 2:15, 2nd Cor. 9:15. Leader, Mrs. A. Van Arendonk.

Mr. and Mrs. George Van Wyck and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur J. Van Wyck spent Thanksgiving Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Laing.

The Missionary Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Roy Denniston Thursday afternoon, December 18, at 2 o'clock.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to put up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—drugged liver and disordered bowels. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles. Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with drugged livers? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for colonic.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. Know them by their olivecolor. They do the work without gripping, cramping or pain. All Druggists. Take one or two of bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c, 30c, 60c.

ELANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

Green and Black introduce a Holiday New in the Mode.

New York—Fifty thousand women cannot be wrong, so the hordes who followed their favorite teams to the football season bore brilliant testimony to an urge to "dress up" for these occasions.

Sports clothes which heretofore have been the unquestioned choice of the thousands, have been swept aside by an onrush of tea party costumes. Of course there have been sports ensembles and sports furs, but the general impression of the smartest galleries is that formal clothes have taken to going to the game.

There have been any number of velvet ensembles and velvet dresses, any number of brilliant purple crepe frocks, and incidentally any number of purple felt hats. Purple rather suddenly has come to be a favorite whenever there are smart women. The belted fur coat is another echo of football days and the preferences accorded krimmer and beaver should be mentioned.

Purple with gray is, as always, a lovely color scheme, so no wonder so many women elected to top their purple frocks by gray lamb or krimmer coats. Rather newer than this, though somewhat less lovely, is the combination of bright purple with beaver, and a matching felt hat.

To those who have doubts as to the present status of the felt hat, again these thousands upon thousands of women are offered testimony, for they choose the felt hat in overwhelming proportions. Occasional velvets, and occasional fur hats, but felt in all sorts of shapes, excepting large ones, and all sorts of colors, usually chosen to match the coat. The black felt hat was however of little consequence, color greatly outnumbering black. Among the unexpected colors may be mentioned the darker greens, chosen frequently with no reference to dress or coat, but usually linked to the costume by either purse or costume jewelry.

Green has been conspicuously present at several evening functions of the month, and one wedding party planned for Yuletide, has the bridesmaids garbed in dr tree green tulle, topped by holly velvet turbans. The costumes are completed by tight little bouquets of holly, the bride wearing mistletoe instead of orange blossoms. The green gowns incidentally were flounced with saw edges, stimulating pine needles. Bright green and red bows, either velvet or tulle, are being introduced as a shoulder or waistline decoration of dance frocks.

WHAT STORY DO YOUR EYES TELL?

Yellow Tinge on the White
Is a Danger Sign

The whites of charming eyes are clear and clean, perhaps slightly blue-tinted—never dull with the YELLOW TINGE which betrays bad health.

A yellow tinge in your eyes is not only unsightly—it's a danger sign. It tells others and it should tell you that you suffer from liver trouble or constipation. If you have a yellow tinge in your eyes do something about it right now. Start correcting it today. Take Beecham's Liver Pile. Purely vegetable. Safe, mild, effective. Quick natural action. Pleasant and easy to take. 50c at all druggists. Trial size 25c. Remember to ask for Beecham's Pile.

A Practical and Comfortable Garment

6265. Materials in nursery designs, flannel, outing flannel, crepe crepe de chine, long cloth and madras, as well as pongee and albatross, may be used for this model. The garment has a convenient drop back, and may be finished in knee or ankle length. Shaped facings trim the fronts and the neck edge. A small pocket is arranged on the front. The sleeve has fullness at the wrist above a narrow band cuff. As pictured, crepe in a nursery design was used with facings of white lawn.

The pattern for this style is cut in 6 sizes: 2, 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. A 6 year size, in ankle length will require 3 1/2 yards of 27 inch material together with 1/4 yard of contrasting material for facings on fronts, neck pocket and cuffs. If made in knee length 1/2 yard less of the figured material will be required.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Fashion Book Notice

Sent 15c in coin or stamps to The Freeman for our up-to-date Fall and Winter 1925 Book of Fashions showing color plates, and containing 500 designs of ladies' misses' and children's patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 80 of the various simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

Pending!

A boy entered a busy dry goods store and asked for "Half a yard of devil."

He persisted in his request, explaining that it was to match his granny's dress.

Still he was not understood. Then he said, suddenly, "That man over there is serving what granny wants."

"Oh, it's black satin you want," said the clerk.

"Yes, sir, it's black 'satin,'" replied the boy. "I knew the chap had two names, but I didn't happen to remember the one the stuff is called after."

At the Training Camp.

The recruit had hurried off to the drill grounds without his rifle. Some of the other rookies would be along soon, so stepping into a canteen he telephoned his company sergeant to have one of the boys bring it along.

"What's that you forgot?" asked the sergeant.

"My gun."

"Your what?"

"My gun. You know, G-U-N. G as in Jerusalem, U as in Europe, N as in pneumatic."

Tartan of Eastern Origin

The tartan is a very old form of cloth, its pattern of weaving being well known among the Eastern nations of the world. One of the earliest mentions of the tartan in Scottish records is in 1471 in the account books of the treasurer of King James III.

Events Around The Empire State

(By The Associated Press)

Glens Falls—A white pheasant, so unusual as to be considered a freak, was shot by James N. Ingalls, local manufacturer, during the past season. The bird has been placed on exhibition here.

Carthage—When the case of Arthur Delorme of Defriet was called in compensation court here a few days ago, Delorme was amazed to hear that his claim included $312 for burial expenses and $260 for a casket. He rose in court and pointed out that he had not been buried and felt very much alive. It was found that the items had been included in the wrong claim and that Delorme was entitled to compensation for a minor injury.

Cape Vincent—A ban on motor boat speeding inside the Cape Vincent breakwater was urged by local river men in a recent hearing before Major R. S. Thomas of the U. S. Engineers. The complaint charged that speedboats traveling at 30 to 40 miles an hour stirred up such a backwash that boats tied to the piers were smashed. Major Thomas reserved decision and turned his findings over to the war department.

Indian Lake—This village is to have a new school costing $165,000. The new building will be completed by next fall and will have a gymnasium and accommodation for 400 pupils.

Ticonderoga—The cornerstone of Ticonderoga's new $500,000 high school was laid a few days ago, while more than 1,000 school children took part in the parade and ceremony.

Albany—The New York State Health Department quotes the following original definition from a recent examination paper for an undertaker's license:

"Death is when you close your eyes, ears and mouth and can't talk any more."

Peach Grower's Friends

The ladybird beetles are perhaps the most beneficial of the several insects that act as a check on the peach tree insects. They prey upon scale insects, aphids and thrips. The twice-stabbed ladybird beetle is usually prevalent on peach trees that are heavily infested with the San Jose scale. It is jet black in color and has two orange or red spots on the back. Ladybird beetles take their nourishment by sucking scale insects dry. They also assist materially in checking infestations of the rusty-brown plum aphid or other aphids. Syrphus flies, lacewing flies, tachina flies, ground beetles and some of the assassin bugs and praying mantis are other insects that are beneficial to the peach grower.

Can Conquer Snake

That formidable appearing lizard of the Southwest, the Gila monster, whose bite is poisonous, is able to vanquish the diamond-back rattlesnake, the deadliest of the species, in combat. In Arizona recently a Gila monster and a rattlesnake were placed in a drug store window, where they fought out their differences. The fight lasted a day. The lizard finally killed the snake.

Newburgh Wants Terminal Market

A committee representing Newburgh called Tuesday on Henry Morgenthau, Jr., in New York city, to gain the further assistance of Governor-elect Roosevelt in establishing a model primary terminal market.
 The market, plans for which were ratified by the Newburgh city council Monday night, is intended as the first link in a state-wide system long advocated by the State Department of Agriculture and Markets and recently urged as a solution of the farm problem by a group of experts who met with Morgenthau at the suggestion of Roosevelt. Morgenthau visited Newburgh last week to urge that the market there be developed as the logical first step in the state program.
 William T. McCaw, city manager, who headed the committee, estimated the market would cost $250,000, half of which would be supplied by the state under article 22 of the constitution and markets law.
 Harry E. Crouch, of the Department of Agriculture, explained that the project was designed to benefit both producer and consumer by eliminating extra handling costs and facilitating direct sales to the consumer. Markets would be controlled by a board of directors representing the city, the state and the producers.

Present plans of the state department call for the eventual establishment of primary markets at Newburgh, Albany, Utica, Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo, Watertown, Jamestown, Elmira and Binghamton, with three supplemental secondary markets in other important centers.

Bomb Placed in Auto Kills Hogan

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 3 (AP).—The "Smiling Peacemaker" of the St. Paul underworld, the "Dapper Danny" Hogan who said he didn't have an enemy in the world, lay last night and watched surgeons amputate his right leg, shattered by a bomb.

And then he died.
 Earlier in the day Hogan, restaurant proprietor who long has been known as a mediator in gang disputes stepped on the starter of his automobile. A dynamite bomb had been placed under the floor board of the car, and the touch on the starter button exploded it.

"I didn't know I had an enemy in the world," he said at the hospital. "I don't know who did it, or much what happened. I touched the starter, and that's all I remember."

Hogan's right leg was shattered and he suffered other injuries. Accepting the physician's advice against an anesthetic, Hogan remained conscious while the leg was being amputated. A dozen friends offered their blood for transfusion, but Hogan died before such an operation could be performed.

Hogan was 45 years old and married. Mutterings of revenge from gangsters in reprisal for some real or fancied wrong at the hands of "Dapper Danny" reached police today as they sought clues.

"Big Time" gunmen were believed to have planted the dynamite in Hogan's car. Police think that New York gunmen were involved. Descriptions of two men seen near the Hogan home early yesterday were in the hands of detectives, who also had fragments of the bomb as slender clues.

Gamblers or liquor dealers, police said, probably were back of the slaying.

Resume Vesper Service Sunday.
 Vesper services will be resumed on Sunday at 5 p. m. at the Rondout Presbyterian Church when three young men who attended the Older Boy's Conference of Schenectady, Arthur Scott, Burton Van Deusen, Herbert Van Deusen, will each make short addresses and give reports of the high lights of the convention.

Presbyterian Preparatory Service.
 Preparatory service will be held at the Rondout Presbyterian Church on Thursday evening at 7:45 preparatory for the Communion on Sunday morning next, and membership Sunday. The new members should be present at the Thursday evening service to meet the session.

White Boxing Gloves.
 Chicago, Dec. 3 (AP).—White boxing gloves are to be given a trial in Illinois. The Illinois State Athletic Commission has decided to try white gloves because several boxers have been incapacitated for long periods by having the dye from gloves infect bruises.

Former Kingston Boy Radio Star

GEORGE McNABB.

Tuesday evening from 10 to 11 over the WJZ blue network of 24 stations will be Rubenstein Hour. The pianist with the WJZ orchestra will be George McNabb of Rochester, a graduate of Kingston Academy. Mr. McNabb resided here a number of years, his father being district traffic chief of the New York Telephone Company. Friday, December 14, at 3:20 p. m., Mr. McNabb will broadcast from WHAM with the Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra, or which he is the piano soloist.

In 1921 Mr. McNabb was graduated from the music department of Syracuse University with honors, being awarded the post-graduate scholarship, a very coveted one, given to the best graduating pianist, and during his college career, won three competitive scholarships for talent and ability given by the Morning Musicals, Inc., of Syracuse, N. Y. In 1924 he was awarded a Juilliard Fellowship and in 1925 was winner of the New York State Federation of Music Clubs' contest for young artists.

Mr. McNabb has done much concert work both as soloist and accompanist. He is among the list of artists recording for the Ampico Reproducing Piano. For over six years he has been a member of the piano faculty of the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y., where his appearances in recitals and with the Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra under Eugene Goossens have been sensational in their success.

As an accompanist he has played for such famed artists as Lucrezia Bori, Edward Johnson, Florence Easton, Reinald Werrenrath and others. His first appearance with Mlle. Bori was one of unusual interest and success, for he was rushed to play for her without rehearsal, reading the program at sight. Needless to say, it caused endless enthusiasm from the audience and much commendation from the noted diva herself, who repeatedly insisted on Mr. McNabb's not only sharing the honors with her, but practically taking them.

The critics have called Mr. McNabb's playing "brilliant"; his technique "masterly"; "virtuoso"; his tone "big"; "singing"; "ravishing"; "velvet"; "distinctive"; his interpretations "intellectual"; "warm"; "sympathetic"; "bringing out the hidden beauties"; and having "moments of delicate beauty and periods of dramatic passionate power and much imaginative insight".

Lace Making Old Industry

Lace making was invented in the year 1561, at St. Annaberg, in Saxony, by Barbara Uthmann. The first establishment of lace manufacture in England is said to be due to some refugees from Flanders, who settled in the village of Cranfield, in the west of the county of Bedford, adjoining Buckinghamshire.

Republican Club Meets Thursday

Thursday evening the annual meeting of the Republican Club will be held in Pythian Hall, Broadway and Thomas street. There are a number of important matters to be taken up at the meeting and it is expected that every member will make it a point to be present. The meeting opens at 8 o'clock.

WEST SHOKAN.

West Shokan, Dec. 3.—The Thanksgiving masquerade held at Colman's Hall was much enjoyed by many from Kingston, Saugerties, Armonk and Ashokan. Music was furnished by a Kingston orchestra that delighted the dancers perched in costumes from many years back up until the present day. Attendees expressed the hope that another such dance would be held in the near future. One thing that told of the success of the dance was the many automobiles that filled the parking grounds adjacent to the hall.

A delegation of the following past grantees of Shokan I. O. O. F. Lodge attended the meeting of the Ulster County Past Grantees Association at the I. O. O. F. temple, the home of R. W. Raymond Lodge, Saugerties. Past District Deputy and President of the association, Arthur E. Trowbridge, John Jordan, William Jordan, Harlowe McLean, William Burcher and E. C. Davis, all of whom are among the shining lights in the affairs of Shokan Lodge, No. 451.

Jake Goebel of Cold Brook has come on a shooting trip to the state of Maryland.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Bell of the Watson Hollow Garage, who have been spending the Thanksgiving season with relatives in New York city, returned home on Sunday.

Butcher continues to be the order of the day. James McMillin and Harlowe McLean of Brodhead made their killings on Monday. They were assisted in a most expert manner by Ira Nichols, the local practitioner of Brodhead Heights.

Marion Davis resumed her studies at Kingston High School on Monday after an absence of four weeks, caused by septic tonsillitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Avery of Maple Dell Farm spent Sunday afternoon visiting their uncle and anast. Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Every of Saugerties Heights. Lauren and Eugene Hesley were Saturday evening visitors in Kingston.

John Jordan, the bustling business farmer of West Shokan Heights, was highly engaged on Saturday with his high speed gasoline saw reducing a large pile of hardwood poles into firewood for Julian Eckert.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Barber of Main street are receiving congratulations over the arrival of Friday at the Benedictine Hospital, of a son and one-half pound daughter. Both mother and baby are doing well.

The old road bed to the head of Watson Hollow is again open to traffic. Much work has been necessary to rebuild dockings and fill in the road bed which in many places was completely obliterated by the great flood of August 30. A local man spent Sunday afternoon among the old ruins at the head of the Hollow which once was a thriving community composed of saw mills, the big Watson tannery, stores, and prosperous farms. Many men and teams were employed in the logging and lumbering operations on the steeply timbered mountain sides in the fall and winter months, while during the dark periods season the men and teams were engaged in the work of cutting and peddling hemlock trees for the bark which was brought down the mountain roads to the barks on drags where it was stacked and later transported to the tannery where it was used in the manufacture of leather. Where once stood these mills, houses, farms, and the tannery, nothing now remains but the foundation stones and in places, molding ruins.

Mr. and Mrs. Shepard Bell of the West Shokan Inn also Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bruckner of West Hurley were entertained at dinner Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Jones.

The following notables were Sunday evening guests at the home of Mrs. Watson Bishop of West Shokan Heights, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Snyder and family, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Jones, also Mr. and Mrs. Shepard Bell of the West Shokan Inn.

M. J. Every and Company are rushing to completion their heating and finishing contract at the Burgher bungalow.

A number of local Odd Fellows are joining the Encampment branch of the order in Kingston, of which it is said one is not a full fledged Odd Fellow until he has taken the Encampment degrees.

Abe Every of Watson Hollow, who tells of the shooting of the monster black bear he killed recently, said he was hunting at the head of the Canape when he suddenly came upon this bear which he states to his vision appeared considerably larger than a full grown elephant and only a distance of 75 yards separated the twin. He however finally summoned up courage to chance a shot with his high power rifle. He carefully took aim at the lumbering hulk and fired five or six shots which did not appear to perturb his ambling gait. However the bear soon paused by a sapling, reared on his hind legs, placed one huge paw high against the trunk, sank its teeth into the bark and then gradually relaxing its hold sank to the ground dead. Some idea of the weight of this bear may be judged from the fact as stated by Mr. Every that the utmost strength of himself and two other men was later required to raise the body over a small log about 10 inches high beside which it had fallen. When the bear was dressed a coating of four to five inches of fat covered the back and sides of the carcass. Mr. Every states that in his long experience as a bear hunter this was by far the largest black bear he has ever seen.

Benton Jordan of Roxbury, accompanied by John Jordan, Jr., who is a senior year student at Cornell University, visited their father, John Jordan of West Shokan Heights on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kerr have recently moved to Glenford from their old home where they have for many years resided in Watson Hollow. Mr. Kerr, who is now seventy-five years of age, is one of those sturdy pioneers of Watson Hollow days. His fame as a hunter and fisherman is known far and wide, which activities he pursued until very recent years when his enfeebled condition forced him much against his will, to greatly curtail his expeditions in the mountains and finally to remain at home entirely. Mr. Kerr in his lifetime has trapped many bears and one season about fourteen years ago caught five. He was a most interesting conversationalist and took delight in telling of his famous hunting and fishing expeditions which was listened to in a most fascinating manner by many a would-be sportsman.

The Ladies' Aid will meet at the church on Wednesday for their weekly quilting bee. A number of out-of-town visitors are expected.

Mrs. E. C. Davis is suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism.

Professor and Mrs. Condon were entertained on Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hesley.

Miss Mary Dwyer of Kingston spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Dwyer at Dwyer's Corners.

Lauren Hesley had some urgent repairs made to his Chevrolet truck at the Christiana repair shop at Shokan on Friday.

The services held at the Baptist Church on Sunday afternoon were well attended. The musical feature was the rendition of a trombone solo by Professor Ralph Longyear of Phoenicia.

Mr. and Mrs. George Beggs of Boiceville entertained a number of prominent guests at their home on Sunday evening.

IV—Advisory Council.

The advisory council met on April 21, at Kingston. The chief work was to adopt the county program of work for 1928. Reports from community representatives were also given, on the status of the work in the respective communities and recommendations to improve the work.

The second meeting was divided into three regional sessions, chiefly to increase attendance. The result was very satisfactory. Supper was served and wives were invited. The meetings were held at the following: Clintonville, October 29, attendance 45; Kerhonkson, November 1, attendance 12. The 1928 membership campaign was of chief concern and resulted in a very enthusiastic start.

Program of Work for 1928.
The community programs as developed at the committee meetings and county projects were summarized into the following county program. This program was approved by the Advisory Council, at its meeting on April 21.

Organization.
1. Hold monthly meeting of Farm Bureau Directors.
2. Hold semi-annual advisory council meeting.
3. Hold at least two community committee meetings in each community.

6. Support state and national Farm Bureau Federation.
7. Cooperate with and support farm cooperative organizations.
8. Cooperate with Pomona Grange and subordinate granges.
9. Cooperate with Uster County Fair Association.
10. Cooperate with Kingston Chamber of Commerce and other city organizations.
11. Hold a Farm and Home Bureau picnic.

Marketing.
1. To lay stress on all work done on high quality products, proper handling, grading and packing methods.
2. To emphasize economic production, not "production for production sake."
3. Conduct marketing trip to New York City markets to observe and study marketing conditions, methods, distribution, packs, grades, etc.

III—Fruit.
1. Hold 3 pruning demonstrations.
2. Hold 2 thinning demonstrations.
3. Hold 5 packing demonstrations.
4. Hold fruit tour.

IV—Livestock.
1. Continue dairy improvement association.
2. Continue dairy improvement club.
3. Assist with eradication of bovine tuberculosis in 3 townships. Disseminate educational information wherever requested.
4. Cooperate with Uster County fair and dairy cattle exhibit.
5. Hold 2 barn meetings on feeding and dairy management.
6. Discuss feeding and management of dairy cattle at 6 winter meetings.
7. Mail "Full Milk Pail" monthly to all members requesting same.
8. Mail "Full Milk Pail" monthly to all members requesting same.

V—Poultry.
1. Organize poultry culling service for 50 members. Cull 20,000 birds, remove 5,000 culls.
2. Ten members for poultry certification association.
3. Forty members in poultry record clubs.
4. Hold 3-day school and egg show.
5. Hold poultry field day.
6. Cooperate with poultry production exhibit at county fair.
7. Cooperate with New York state "better chicks campaign."
8. Mail "Nest Egg" monthly to all members requesting.

VI—Vegetable Gardening.
1. Send timely insect and disease control information letter to all members requesting.
2. Hold 2 potato field meetings to identify and discuss potato insect and disease control measures.
3. Conduct county wide legume campaign to increase acreage of important legume crops—clovers, alfalfa, oats, peas and barley, soy beans, sweet clover.
4. Make 150 farm visits to take soil samples and test for lime requirements. Make recommendations on seed source, cultural methods, fertilizer practice, inoculation for legumes. Furnish inoculation material at cost.
5. Mail "Alfalfaographs" to co-operators.

VII—Farm Management.
1. Furnish Farm Inventory and Farm Account Books to all members requesting.
2. Send monthly bulletin on farm economics to all committeemen and other who request same.

IX—Farm Mechanics and Engineering.
1. Make personal farm visits on land drainage, farm water supply systems, septic tanks, dairy barn remodeling, dairy barn ventilation, to all members requesting.
2. Hold one farm shop school.
3. Hold two blacksmith schools.
4. Hold one tractor school.

X—Rodent Control.
1. Hold two woodchuck control demonstrations.
2. Send circular letters on woodchuck control.
3. Send circular information on mice control in orchards.

XI—Beekeeping.
1. Mail "Beekeeping News" to co-operators.
2. Through the Conservation Commission offer personal farm visits on reforestation problems. Encourage reforestation of waste land.

XII—Miscellaneous.
1. Furnish harvest weather forecast at 10 points in county.
2. Furnish protection against farm thieves through vigilance service, and sell signs along with memberships.
3. Furnish bulletins and printed material on all agricultural topics.
4. The manager should visit as many members as practical, and keep up the program of work.
5. Maintain office headquarters for county agricultural interests.
6. Report on Program of Work.
The program as outlined was carried out step by step as follows:

Organization.

are given on several occasions in setting out letters, etc.

Several district meetings of the Dairywomen's League were attended, including district and local meetings.

Extensive assistance was given the Uster County Accredited Herd Cooperative Association. This will be treated in detail under the head of livestock.

Cooperate with Pomona and subordinate granges. Three meetings of Pomona Granges were attended and assistance given with the program. Five subordinate grange meetings were attended and part taken in the respective programs.

Cooperate with Uster County Fair Association. Hold Farm and Home Bureau Day. Assistance was given in providing a poultry and a cattle exhibit. An exhibit was displayed on legume culture. The livestock exhibit was encouraged. Farm and Home Bureau Day was held, but due to the severe weather it was unsuccessful.

Cooperate with Kingston Chamber of Commerce and other city organizations. A joint Farm and Home Bureau-Chamber of Commerce picnic was held. The Farm Bureau is a member of the Chamber of Commerce. Rotary and Kiwanis have been given cooperation in carrying out their programs.

During October the Farm Bureau Committee entertained the Kingston Rotary Club at a banquet in Kingston. This was a big step in cementing the ties between rural and city people. The chief topic of discussion was the organization of 4-H Clubs in the county. There was considerable interest, and the project received the earnest support of all present.

Hold a Farm and Home Bureau picnic. Due to a flood and adverse weather conditions the picnic had to be postponed, nevertheless it was very successful with about 3,000 people in attendance. It was a simple picnic with no big features.

In addition to the above activities under the head of organization, a series of six community meetings were held during October at which 710 persons attended. These were primarily of an entertaining nature. They were held in cooperation with the Home Bureau and at most of them a one act play was presented. These plays competed in the dramatic contest.

One program was provided at a social meeting under the auspices of the Modena Church. This was well attended and well received.

II—Marketing.
1. To lay stress in all work done on high quality products, proper handling, grading and packing methods. This was partly done in cooperation with the Merchant's Association, and the New York Central Railroad. A fruit demonstration train was provided. Talks were given on grading and packing, as well as demonstrations.

Apparently quality is over half of the marketing problem, consequently this will be treated in detail under specific headings. This project was also carried out by personal contact.

2. To emphasize economic production, not "production for production sake." This has to do with proper feeding and cultural practices which will be covered under the individual heads. Greater production of home feeds, of high quality, is important to fulfill this project. The majority of the demonstrational work leads to this end.

3. Conduct marketing trip to New York City markets to observe and study marketing conditions, methods, distribution, packs, grades, etc. A successful trip was held on December 11, 12, 13 and 14, 1927. The attendance was small, but the trip, from a standpoint of information, was very satisfactory. Another is being planned for December 9, 10, 11 and 12, this year. The program has already been prepared.

III—Fruit.
1. Hold three pruning demonstrations. In the past these have always been held in the fall, but they have been shifted to early spring. They are being planned for March.

2. Hold two thinning demonstrations. These were scheduled, but due to the light and exceedingly heavy drop, they were canceled.

3. Hold five packing demonstrations. The exhibition fruit packing train took the place of the packing demonstrations. Two stops were made in Uster county by this train. One at Milton and one at Uster Park. The attendance was fair and the results satisfactory.

4. Hold fruit tour. Due to the decision of a special committee this tour was called off. Demand did not warrant holding such a tour.

5. Conduct spray information service. This was done by a special field assistant, E. J. Hambleton. Mr. Hambleton was employed for approximately six months. A condensed report of his work will appear at the end of this report. During the season Forty-three Spray Service Information were mailed out to six hundred fifty co-operators, making a total circulation of approximately twenty-eight thousand. There were fifty-seven special co-operators who paid twenty dollars each to support this service.

During the coming year, starting December 1, a permanent assistant county agricultural agent will be employed. This assistant will conduct the spray information service during 1929.

6. Hold thirteen twilight meetings. Twelve of these meetings were held. Some communities had two; one at an early date and one later. The attendance was one hundred fifty-six at all of them. These are very practical meetings, held in someone's orchard and are valuable, in carrying out the information service.

7. Discuss important fruit topics at seven winter meetings. Five of these were held with an attendance of one hundred twenty-five. These were held at Marlborough, Milton, Highland, Clintonville and Uster Park. Only five communities requested these meetings.

8. Cooperate in carrying on experimental work on fertilization of orchards. This was done with a representative of the experimental station at Hudson, New York.

IV—Livestock.
1. Continue Dairy Improvement Association. This was successfully done and re-organized on October 1, 1928. Several new members were obtained and the association is now almost complete. The association for 1928 was held at Marlborough. F. Wendell Knapp, has succeeded client work to keep him busy all month. The success of the association was indicated by the fact that thirteen of its members qualified for the National Honor Roll, having a herd average of over three hundred pounds of butterfat.

2. Continue dairy improvement club. This was also done, although club members were slow in getting into records. These members were taken care of when the association was in the neighborhood.

3. Assist with eradication of bovine tuberculosis in three townships. Disseminate educational information wherever requested. Due to a shift in conditions accounted for primarily by the enforcement of the new sanitary code, the eradication work has been done in practically every township in the county. Eighteen townships now have tested herds within their boundaries. Seven townships are practically cleaned up. During the fiscal year of the association, seven thousand and nine hundred eighty-four cattle were tested of which three thousand five hundred and seventy-nine received the initial test. This makes a total of twenty-one thousand five hundred sixty-six cattle tested in the county since the inauguration of the work.

The Farm Bureau furnished spare and clerical help to the Accredited Herd Association. The county agent was present at all of the meetings of its directors, as well as the annual meeting of the association. Full cooperation was given, giving out of educational information, sending notices and keeping records, were the chief forms of assistance.

Cooperate with Uster County Fair or Dairy Cattle Exhibit. This was done by personal visits and by letter. As a result there was an excellent exhibit in addition several breeders who did not exhibit this year, promised to do so in 1929.

5. Hold two barn meetings on feeding and dairy management. These have been arranged for to be held during December.

6. Discuss feeding and management of dairy cattle at six winter meetings. These meetings were held at Hurley, Modena, Asbury, Tongore and Accord. Only five communities requested dairy meetings.

7. Mail "Full Milk Pail" monthly to all members requesting same. These were mailed regularly to one hundred ten dairymen in the county.

V—Poultry.
1. Organize poultry culling service for 80 members. Cull 20,000 birds, remove 5,000 culls. During the season sixteen thousand one hundred sixty-six birds were handled by Raymond DuBois, the Farm Bureau Poultry Culler for sixty-three individuals. Of the total, four thousand nine hundred thirty culls were removed. This is somewhat below the program figures, but it must be considered that many people who cull once, do their own the following year. The purpose of this work is to get them to cull for themselves. Additional requests came in too late to say that each cull removed saves one dollar in feed for the owner.

2. Ten members for Poultry Certification Association. Uster county now has eleven members in the Certification Association. This is one of the highest numbers in any single county in the state. The Certification Association has been organized and is now known as the New York State Official Cooperative Poultry Breeders, Incorporated.

Under the new plan, the work has been broadened.

3. Forty members in Poultry Record Club. The three organized clubs has forty-five members at the outset, but there was a heavy mortality. Only a dozen sent in the final report. There will probably be about twenty who send in their books to be summarized at the college.

4. Hold three-day school and egg show. This was held at Kingston on January 19-20-21, with an average attendance of sixty-five. This was an outstanding success in every way. Another is being planned for January 1929.

5. Hold poultry field day. The field day was held at the home of Raymond DuBois on August 17. In spite of the continued rain, it was quite successful. Forty attended in the forenoon and forty-five in the afternoon. Mr. L. M. Hurd was on hand as the speaker.

Stanford Coach Rates Cagle Best Backfield Player

New York, Dec. 5 (P.)—Glen Warner's mighty Stanford football eleven had a field day with the Army, but the coach of the Californians acquired a healthy respect for one Mr. Christian Keener Cagle, halfback and captain-elect of the Cadets. In fact, Warner rates the Army red-head as the best backfield player he has seen on either side of the continent.

"My teams now have played against both Cagle and Chuck Carroll, the University of Washington backfield star," ruminated the old fox of the coaching game. "There's a couple of great players, no mistake."

"Carroll is bigger and heavier, but Cagle is shifter. Carroll is a great straight-ahead runner and Cagle is probably better in a broken field. The Washington player is the kind that never loses ground. You can always count on him to make a gain of some kind, but probably Cagle could do the same under similar conditions. The Army back takes more chances."

"Which would I rather have on my team?"

"Pop" puffed thoughtfully for a moment and then replied, "Well, I guess I'd take Cagle."

The Stanford coach expressed a shrewd opinion on a spectacular feat performed twice by Cagle in the course of the Stanford game. Probably most of the spectators believed "Red" was acting extemporaneously when after starting around his left end and finding a wall of Stanford men sweeping in on him he turned, ran far back and across the field, and threw a long pass on the dead run. Pop believes it was a "planned play."

"I think so, for one thing, because it happened twice," he said. "And both times there were three Army men waiting where that pass was going. If the play had been supposed to be a run around the left end what would they be doing down in the right hand corner of the field?"

Of the quality of football played in various parts of the country Pop has no prejudice in favor of the far west although many of the experts are giving that territory the call owing to Stanford's conquest of the Army and the Oregon Aggies' victory over New York University.

"There are good teams in the south, the middle west and other parts of the country," he said. "The east may be a bit conservative still, partly because of bad weather which makes it hard to use tricky plays involving much handling of the ball, but there are plenty of strong teams here, too."

Warner thinks the football rules as now constituted are "good enough," although he is favorably inclined toward a proposal advanced in some quarters that the scoring system be changed so that a point would be given for each first down. He thinks this would make the better team win more often than in the case with long runs for touchdowns on fumbles or forward passes common.

Lenglen Loses Lofty Position

SUZANNE LENGLEN'S position in the tennis world is not to be envied. That is what the tennis fans are saying. Her jump from the topmost pinnacle to an almost forgotten young woman with plans for the future unsettled in one year is really startling.

Before she accepted C. C. Fyle's cash offer that really was an amount more than twice what it actually was, but still a "handsome sum," she was in the headlines of the papers almost daily. Everything she did was chronicled even to her tournament that resulted in Queen Mary of England being crowned at Wimbledon last year. Now she is all but forgotten and recently her name was published for the first time in many months.

Suzanne Lenglen

Her name appeared in connection with a story that if Paul Feret, who played professionally with her, would be reinstated as an amateur, she would ask that her amateur status be reinstated. However, Miss Lenglen denied this rumor and stated she "would not return to the amateur ranks under any condition."

She concluded her statement with "my future plans as a professional are unsettled. It is doubtful if I will play this season." That is the part that causes tennis fans not to envy her. They know if she does not play this season she will not play the next with the same ability she played last season, for even tennis players "rust." Gene Tunney from one fight a year, and Suzanne must play each season and each day in the season or else she will "rust."

The French Tennis federation refused to reinstate Feret and this action automatically will cause Suzanne not to ask for reinstatement. Many thought that Feret was but a stalking horse for the former queen of the courts.

The French federation felt keenly that Suzanne turned professional, for she had brought many francs into its treasury as she was the drawing card at all tournaments. They resented her step so greatly that immediately after she announced her decision, the federation passed a rule that no professional could be reinstated as an amateur until five years had elapsed from the time the last professional match had been played. It was this rule that Feret had tried to have the federation waive.

Bar Bill Tilden

If Big Bill Tilden wants to play amateur tennis now, he will have to go a long way to do it. He must go to Russia, China, Brazil, Bolivia, Andorra, Lithuania, Abyssinia or Liberia. The International Lawn Tennis federation, which embraces thirty-four nations, abides by the action of the United States Lawn Tennis association in barring him.

Fleischmanns Beat Port Ewen

The Port Ewen Knights of Pythias quintet took a 40-36 defeat at the hands of Fleischmanns Tuesday night on the mountaineers' court. The boys from across the creek did their hardest fighting in the second half, but could not get an edge on their opponents.

Fleischmanns asserted their superiority in the first half, which ended in favor of that team, 22-12. Then came the second half when the mountaineers had to hasten their pace as the Knights' accustomed themselves to the court. Dan Joyce broke loose from a heavy Fleischmanns guard and caged 10 field shots for the largest individual tally of the game, 20 points. Faulkner did the best shooting for Fleischmanns by corraling 14 markers.

The Port Ewen Knights are now making ready for a hectic battle with Millbrook at K. of P. Hall, Port Ewen, Thursday night. The game is slated for 8 o'clock, after which there will be dancing with music by Ed Leverett's orchestra.

ELMO SHROPSHIRE IS IN SPOTLIGHT

Little Jockey Would Rather Pilot Winning Horse Than Eat.

One of the sensations of the Middle West thoroughbred racing season this year has been the riding of little Elmo Shropshire, seventeen-year-old Lexington (Ky.) youth, under contract to Phil Reuter. Shropshire makes 94 pounds and if one rider had to be named as the most popular at the Chicago and Fairmount meetings, Shropshire would have to be named as that boy. His services have been much in demand.

It is uncontroverted H. P. Whitney of Shropshire, who Reuter turned it down. He evidently wants more or is determined on keeping Shropshire to do his own riding. Shropshire was broken into racing by L. O. Everett, who also sent Kenneth Roe and Lee Hardy to the races. It is remarked by those in close contact with the jockeys that all of Everett's pupils have the same disposition. Shropshire is said to be a pink-faced enthusiastic kid, who would rather pilot a winner home than eat. His remarkable number of seconds and thirds proves his consistency and sincerity.

Reuter keeps the lad at his own apartment whenever he is racing and Shropshire is regarded by both Mr. Reuter and Mrs. Reuter as one of the family. Reuter already is making plans to establish his permanent home in New Orleans, having expressed the desire to build there this winter and call New Orleans his home.

Last winter Reuter brought Jockey V. Peterson to New Orleans, but even

Chandlers Beat Margaretville, Y's Men Win

Getting the upper hand in the early part of the game the Chandlers defeated Margaretville, 26 to 14 at the Y. M. C. A. court Tuesday night, and the Y's Men swamped the Excelsiors 62 to 19 in the preliminary tilt.

The Margaretville team scored one from scrimmage and one from the foul line before the Chandlers found the hoop for a tally. Merritt dropped two field goals followed by Krum and shortly after Merritt again scored making six of the eight points so far. The Chandlers held their opponents in fine style although they themselves shot in tough luck. When the first quarter ended the score was 12-5 with the "Y" representatives well in the lead.

De Silva and Hubbard both scored from the fifteen foot line but this was topped off by Kennedy's two pointer which was scored from the side of the court. De Silva again made a free try good which ended their scoring for the first half while the Chandlers wasted no time in piling them up, the score being 18 to 8 in favor of the Chandlers when the half ended.

Krum started off a scoring period for the Chandlers by rolling up three points to De Silva's two and from then on the Chandlers made baskets fast and plenty while on the other hand the mountaineers only gathered two points that session. Niles, Merritt and Kennedy were the main point getters of this rally. The third quarter ended with the Chandlers still well in the lead 27 to 10.

In the last quarter the Margaretville team rolled up their largest number of points. The Chandlers only succeeded in adding three marks to their previous score but the lead held by the locals couldn't possibly be overcome in such a short period, taking into consideration the defense work of the Chandlers. Merritt ended things up for the "Y" representatives just as he started by scoring a shot from the center of the court as the final whistle blew leaving the Chandlers in front 30 to 14.

Y's Men Win.

The Y's Men ran away with the Excelsior team in the preliminary game, although throughout the first half the Excelsiors gave their opponents a good battle. The score was 22 to 15 at half time. In the second session the Excelsiors scored but four points while the Y team gathered 40. The final tally was 62 to 19.

Sunday School Games Tonight

The following Sunday School Basketball League games will be played at the Y. M. C. A. tonight:

Presbyterians vs. St. Johns at 8 o'clock.

Redeemers vs. Albany Avenue Baptist at 9 o'clock.

Trinity vs. Congregational at 10 o'clock.

he admitted Peterson was of the type hard to manage, and, though a capable rider and one who was always trying to win, Peterson's rough riding and his hot temper kept him on the ground so much he was of little use. Shropshire is of an entirely opposite disposition—a mild, though manly lad, who is wrapped up in his success.

However, the best way to judge a rider is by the number of times he is first, second, third or fourth with his mount. And Shropshire's record will speak for itself. Racing officials are coming more and more to the belief that the youthful riders—chiefly the apprentices who are anxious to run up a splendid record, are the best assets a race track can have.

Talk of scandal among the seven-teen and eighteen-year-old boys is seldom heard of and the officials always have found the ambitious youngsters easy to handle.

Ellenville Noses Out High School

The Kingston High School varsity basketball team started its 1928 campaign by being defeated in the school gym by the Ellenville High School, 21 to 20, Tuesday afternoon. The Maroon and White held the upper hand at the end of the first period and at half time but their opponents succeeded in outscoring them in the last quarter.

The Ellenville quintet have been playing for some time while the local school varsity have practiced but three times together. Taking this into consideration, Coach Kias' team played good basketball.

Blackwell and Clarke scored field goals to start things off and Joyce also found the hoop from scrimmage. Up till then the visitors hadn't scored but they were improving every minute as the game went on both in floor and defense work. Now and then the Ellenville boys would get the ball under the basket but couldn't find the hoop. This continued until about the last few minutes of the first quarter and then in quick succession the visitors rolled up five points, making the score 8 to 5 in Kingston's favor when the opening quarter ended.

In the second both teams by no means went on a scoring rampage but at the same time the Ellenville boys added more points to their score than the locals. Clarke found the basket from the fifteen foot line for a score and Blackwell again sunk one from scrimmage. This was all the points the Maroon and White gathered in the second quarter. The visitors doubled their score and when the half ended Kingston still had the upper hand 11 to 10.

The third quarter saw the score change hands many times. The Ellenville team again rolled up their five points as they did in the previous sessions but this time Kingston only collected four. Jones was sent in for Chipp and he did his duty making one of the two field goals. However when the third quarter ended the tally was deadlocked at 15 points.

It was in the last quarter that Ellenville completely outplayed Kingston. In the previous periods Kingston by far played superior basketball but this time the tune was played to a different rhythm for the visitors jumped into the lead, score 19 to 17. Clarke made a foul and sunk a shot from scrimmage but this was not sufficient. When the final whistle sounded the score was 21 to 20 with the Ellenville squad on top.

Carpino Trains Hard for Davis

Johnny Carpio of this city who fights fairly Curtis Davis of New York is hitting the bags hard every day in his training quarters. Carpio is most eager to take the scalp of Davis in their coming set at the local armory on Monday night, December 10.

The battle will mark the Kingston boy's debut as a National Guard scrapper and he hopes to make it a memorable one. Carpio hopes to give the fans the sort of battle that he has always fought as a licensed New York pugilist. He is well known to Hudson valley admirers as the boy with a hard sock, who fights every minute.

Johnny has taken on some good men within the last two years and has a string of wins to his credit. He can take a stiff one and deal out one just as hard, which makes him a tough boy to beat. However, this Curtis Davis is no soft boiled scrapper himself and when it comes to punching—he is there with the beat in the guard.

Davis is the man who stopped Joe Starr of West Point by a knockout in the fifth round of their set at the last fight card. The husky negro took plenty on the chin before he dropped Starr so Carpio will have to be in good shape and have his punching rods tuned to the finest in order to stay with Davis.

It is expected that Carpio's followers from Kingston and many surrounding communities will flock to the armory to see him make his first army ring appearance. Ring-side seats are now ready for sale, but will go like hot cakes if it is estimated, so all who wish choice chairs are advised to "phone the armory as early as possible and reserve them.

Yellow Jackets End Successful 1928 Schedule

The Yellow Jackets decided not to play any more football games this season, when the team met at the office of Manager George Brock Tuesday night, so he has notified the West Point Artillery team that their proposed tilt with the locals this city next Sunday is off.

The closing of the season for the Yellow Jackets marks the termination of a very successful period for the Kingston representatives. Seven games were won, four lost and one played during the weeks of the gridiron sport. The contests were against the hardest opposition that could be booked by George Brock and Ray Craft, live-wire managers of this year's team. The Yellow Jackets cannot forget the great service rendered the team by Coach Carl Preston, while every fan of the game in these parts holds a warm spot in his heart for the Yellow Jacket football team.

Several matters have to be settled before the Jackets clear up their season's business, so another meeting is scheduled for Monday night. It is likely that the boys will arrange for a banquet. Whatever business may be transacted, it is hoped by Kingston football fans that the Yellow Jackets make plans to again enter the field of competition next year.

ROAMER QUINSET BEAT DE MOLAY FIVE

The Roamer quintet defeated the DeMolay team at the S. A. Hall Tuesday night by the score 42-28. The DeMolay team did not threaten the Roamers at any stage of the game. The losing team found it hard trying to break through the Roamers' defense which worked pretty. Raichle and H. Smith played nice ball for the Roamers, dropping the sphere from all angles of the court. They collected 18 and 8 points respectively. E. Smith and Shultz kept the DeMolay in the running with 9 and 3 points respectively.

Rondouts Lose To Hupmobiles

The Hupmobiles stepped on the gas in the last half of their tilt with the Rondout A. C. quintet at Salvation Army Hall, North Front street, Tuesday night, and administered a 37-19 trimming to the men of Manager Golnek.

In the first half it looked as though the Rondouts might avenge in recent defeat handed them by the Hups. This session ended 12-9 in favor of the automobile team, which was not a very substantial lead. The Hupmobiles got much stronger in the closing period however and banked their hold on the game by shooting from all corners.

Stumpf, the flashy little right forward of the winning team, who is well known to followers of the court sport, led the scorers by dropping five fields and two fouls for the Hupmobiles. Ed. Gilday of the Rondouts came near him with 11 points.

Shake-Up of Cardinals Expected to Be Drastic

Sam Brendon, owner of the Cardinals, has admitted that a drastic shakeup of the National league champions was probable before the opening of the 1929 season.

Brendon, however, made only one definite announcement involving a player. He said Charley Gelbert, Rochester shortstop, would be in the Cardinal infield.

Tommy Theanow, shortstop star in 1926, and Ray Blades will probably be graded. Rabbit Maraville will be kept, probably in a utility role. Frankie Frisch may go to third base.

Earl Smith, catcher, will probably be released. George Harper and Taylor Douthitt will be traded, if likely deals can be arranged. "Old Pete" Alexander can have a job, if he wants it, the Cardinal management being convinced the veteran still has a lot of baseball left in his arm.

Halves and Sherdel are also sure of jobs, but Clarence Mitchell may be wearing another uniform. Hasey is talking of undergoing an operation for sinus trouble and staying out of the game for a year. Orsatti may be a regular next year.

New Orleans Handicap Is Reduced by Losses

The New Orleans handicap, formerly the richest racing stake on southern tracks, will be reduced from $50,000 added money to $25,000 because of losses sustained by the fair grounds last year.

J. M. Murphy, general manager of the Louisiana Jockey club, estimated the race would be worth about $35,000 to the winner with the remaining 50 per cent of the sweepstakes of starting and nominating fees being split between second, third and fourth place horses on a sixty-thirty-ten basis. The race will be run February 1.

The fair grounds meet will end with Mardi Gras, February 12. Because of the shortness of the meet, the Lincoln birthday handicap and the Orleans kindergarten will be eliminated.

Shot to Death in Attempted Escape

New York, Dec. 3 (AP).—Sigmond Weiss, about to be sentenced to life imprisonment as a fourth offender, was shot and killed today by a court guard after he had shot and slightly wounded another guard in an effort to escape from the prison in the court room of general sessions.

Weiss was shot by Captain John Doyle, head of the court attendants, after Weiss struck a second attendant over the head with a revolver which presumably had been smuggled to him.

Weiss, alias White, was convicted as a fourth offender after he was found guilty of an east side jewelry robbery.

At Williams, a court attendant, had Weiss in charge and was waiting to bring him before Judge Connelley when Weiss suddenly drew a revolver and opened fire. Williams was hit in the hand, and Leon Karstrand, another attendant, sprang at the prisoner but Weiss brought the butt end of the revolver down on his head. As Karstrand fell back, Doyle ran toward the group with drawn revolver.

Weiss aimed at Doyle but the revolver jammed. Doyle fired twice. The first shot struck Weiss in the face under the right eye and the second hit him in the abdomen. Weiss was dead when a Tomb's physician arrived.

Weiss' record extended over 14 years, and included three sentences for burglary and grand larceny.

Santa Claus in Plane Thursday

VanWageningen's Santa Claus' proposed trip over the city today in an airplane for the purpose of inspecting the chimneys before his annual visit on Christmas eve has been postponed until Thursday. As it was to have been his first experience as an aviator it was thought best not to subject him to the very inclement flying weather of today. When he flies over the city tomorrow he will toss letters to the children some of which will be good, if presented to Santa at VanWageningen's store for gifts that will please any youngster who gets one.

Made Progress for Concert Series

The meeting called at the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday evening in the interest of Community Concerts in Kingston was more largely attended than any previous meeting. Mr. Rowland, president of the executive committee, presided, and Mrs. Horton, connected with the Community Concert project spoke at some length, explaining just what the plan calls for, stressing the fact that in a community having the churches, schools and homes that Kingston has, there should also be found concerts presenting the best in music.

Two matters in connection with the operating of the concert plan were decided by vote. One was that there should be no reserved seats, the other that there should be, in addition to the regular $5 membership admitting the adult member to at least three high class concerts, a $3 student membership for those young people of school age desiring to attend the concerts. Much of the time of the meeting was devoted to receiving memberships and planning how best to secure the full five hundred or more members. On Thursday morning Dr. Speck will be in town and will speak to the student body at the high school.

Pay Interest on Xmas Club Funds

The Christmas Club of the First National Bank of Rondout, at Broadway and Strand, announce in an advertisement in this issue of The Freeman the starting of their 1925 Christmas Club.

This popular bank announces that interest at 3 per cent will be added to all Christmas Club accounts which are paid in full and on which weekly payments are made on or before the date they are due.

The first payment in the Christmas Club of this bank becomes due Monday, December 15. However, in order to avoid the last-minute rush, many patrons are joining now.

The First National Bank of Rondout in its advertisement invites everybody to join its big Christmas Club and put money away weekly when you make it least and get it back in a lump sum, plus interest, when you need it most.

Congress Settles Down to Business

Up Legislation Where It Had Been Shipped—Senate Embroidering in Boulder Canyon Dam Fight—Kellogg Treaty and Appropriation Bills Occupy Attention.

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP).—Both the Senate and the House swung into action today on the actual work of the short three months' session.

The task at hand was the picking up of legislation where it had been dropped to enable a presidential campaign to get under way, and the Senate found itself again embroiled in the Boulder Canyon dam fight which last winter caused sleepless nights and days of talk. This bill was the order of business under an agreement reached in the heat and strain of the closing days in June.

In the House where the big job in every short session is the rushing through of the annual batch of supply bills, the naval committee had the right of way to take up measures of concern to the naval establishment. All of these, however, were of minor importance as this committee got its major task completed last winter in having the 15-cruiser construction bill passed and sent to the Senate, where it still is awaiting action.

But before the naval committee set under way the House arranged to receive the annual budget message from President Coolidge—the last formality of the opening of the session. The contents of the budget recommendations for weeks have been known to members of the appropriations committee and official presentation of the document was the signal for the introduction of the first of the supply measures—that providing funds for the treasury and post office departments for the fiscal year which will begin July 1.

Consider Kellogg Peace Treaty.

In the Senate, even though the big Boulder Dam bill held preferred status on the program, attention was directed to that body's foreign relations committee, which was called to take up the Kellogg peace treaty proposing that the United States join with other nations of the world in renouncing war as an instrument of national policy. This pact only yesterday was transmitted to the Capitol from the White House and it was accompanied by a message from President Coolidge expressing the hope of its ratification before he retires from office March 4.

In both houses other committees were at work on subjects of lesser magnitude while in the corridors, cloak rooms and behind the closed doors of their offices members were talking of still other legislative matters—principally farm relief and revision of the tariff.

Both of these latter subjects played a conspicuous part in the proceedings yesterday. Chairman McNary of the Senate agricultural committee introduced a farm bill, minus the equalization fee provisions of the twice-vetted McNary-Haugen measure, and indicated his new proposal was in line with administration views.

Start Tariff Hearings January 7.

On the tariff, the House ways and means committee voted unanimously to start hearings on a prospective tariff, January 7, and Chairman Hawley announced it was hoped to have these completed by March 4. The committee instructed him to ask the House for authority for it to sit after adjournment so it might have a bill ready by the time the new Congress convenes, whenever that may be.

The ways and means committee's plan precludes the possibility of a tariff measure this winter and leaves but two courses of action open—either disposition of the question at a special session or its postponement until the regular meeting of Congress late next fall.

U. S. Senator Dupont Resigns

Wilmington, Del., Dec. 5 (AP).—United States Senator T. Coleman Dupont of Delaware has resigned his seat in the Senate because of his health.

The resignation was made known today by Governor Robinson, who said he had received a copy of the letter of resignation which the senator had sent to Vice-President Dawes.

Dupont is recuperating from a long illness at his country place near Cambridge, Md.

Dupont, who is a Republican, became a senator in 1921 when he was appointed by Governor Denney to succeed Josiah O. Wolcott, Democrat, who had resigned. He was a candidate for election in 1922 but was defeated by Thomas F. Bayard, Democrat. He was elected in 1924. His term would have expired in 1930.

Governor Robinson has not indicated whom he will appoint to fill the vacancy, but it is said the Republican organization has indicated to him that it prefers Daniel O. Hastings, who is now judge of the municipal court in Wilmington.

Fashion's Changes.

In George Washington's day the clothes of the upper class dressed much as he did. Between 1790 and 1800 there occurred a change in the style of garb worn by men. A round hat, short coat, light waistcoat and pantaloons reaching to the ankles and fastened by buttons comprised the attire of a gentleman. The hair was short and unpowdered.

Beautiful Fur.

The black racoon is considered by some to be the most beautiful of all fur bearers. They are quite scarce and good breeding stock is difficult to obtain. Racoon is well known for its wearing qualities, and this fact added to the beauty of the black racoon makes it particularly popular.

Prof. Hoffman To Lecture Here

The Rev. Dr. Milton J. Hoffman, professor of sacred and ecclesiastical history in the New Brunswick, N. J., Theological Seminary of the Reformed Church, is to give an illustrated lecture in this city on the topic of "The Reformation." Dr. Hoffman has been conducting a seminary extension course at the Y. M. C. A. for several weeks in which several of the Reformed clergy were enrolled. On December 17 he expects to meet the class at the Fair Street Reformed Church, in the Sunday school room, and review the ground they have been covering. In doing so he will exhibit the lantern slide pictures he has had prepared from the pictures he took last summer on his trip through Germany. On that trip he visited practically all of the places connected with the life and work of the great German reformer, Martin Luther.

This lecture and exhibition should be of unusual interest to the ministers and their workers, and all ministers and church workers are cordially invited to attend. This invitation is not restricted to Reformed churchmen and women; others are as cordially invited to be present. Dr. Hoffman is an exceptional teacher and his presentation of the topic will give his audience a vivid conception of this great movement.

The lecture will be on Monday afternoon, December 17, at 1:30 o'clock, in the Fair Street Reformed Church Sunday school room.

ACTIVITIES IN ST. PAUL LUTHERAN CHURCH.

The class for religious instruction meets on Thursday at four o'clock.

The pastor's rehearsal for boys participating in the Christmas drama of "The Citizens and Shepherds" meets on Thursday evening. The Ladies' Aid will hold its regular meeting on Thursday evening.

This year's annual canvass will be held on Sunday afternoon. All canvasses will be officially commissioned on Sunday morning.

Embarrassed His Mother.

Mrs. H. M. writes—"I was entertaining friends, including the minister, at Sunday dinner. The gravy bowl was nearly empty, and as I left the table to refill it, my little son exclaimed, 'Give me some more gravy, ma, before you water it.'—Boston Transcript.

Raskob Will Call Conference

New York, Dec. 5 (AP).—A conference of leaders of the Democratic party will be called shortly after the Christmas holidays by National Chairman John J. Raskob for a discussion of organization plans and for evolving a program for the next four years.

Governor Smith, leaders of the House and Senate and national committeemen probably will be invited to attend. The meeting will be informal and probably will take no definite action.

Whether or not he will retain the chairmanship of the party Raskob indicated will depend on the attitude of the party leaders.

"Personally I have not yet given any thought to this question," he said. "My personal inclination is to take an absolutely unselfish attitude in this matter."

There has been criticism by certain Southern leaders of Raskob's continued chairmanship, notably from Governor Dan Moody of Texas, who blamed the chairman for the break in the solid South in the last election. Raskob indicated that if he was retained as chairman he would carry on a militant campaign during the next four years.

"I can see no reason," he said, "why, with proper organization work, undertaken without unnecessary delay, we should not in the next four years be in a position to build up an aggressive party organization that can make itself felt in the 1932 Presidential election."

He blamed lack of such work between 1924 and 1928 for the failure of Governor Smith to win or come nearer to election.

LUGGAGE FOR CHILDREN LATEST WRINKLE IN LEATHER GOODS

AND now, what next for children? Well, the latest wrinkle in luggage especially designed for the little folks. It seems that nowadays children have duplicated for them in miniature about everything which goes to make up the equipment of their elders. Which is an excellent thing, seeing that it cultivates in them a sense of ownership which leads to a sense of obligation and responsibility on their part which in turn develops a fine self-reliance.

Handsome and sturdy leather bags of various kinds are now appearing in the luggage shops of the land to make it possible for boys and girls to enjoy "carrying their own" when they go on a trip. This new tiny luggage simplifies many a mother's task of packing the children's clothes and encourages in the child a disposition to be orderly.

Previous to this summer about the only luggage for children was made of cardboard and was too flimsy for real service. But this season the manufacturers have taken the matter more seriously. The result is that a variety of bags and cases in all kinds of leather and in many colors have gone into service, and what fun it is for the youngsters to "tote" them about!

Many of these little pieces are exact replicas of big luggage for elders, especially a tiny kit bag of tan cowhide with double handles, straps and buckles on it just like grownups'. It is only 14 inches long. Another piece is a fat little roll bag of calfskin colored red or blue or green with hookless fastener opening across the top which locks at one end. Then there are 12-inch hat boxes and matching tiny overnight cases in good leather of various colors and finishes; foot-long suitcases, some made of cowhide and calfskin printed to simulate alligator; little round-cornered suit bags whose lids are fastened with the now familiar sliding hookless catch; and so on. Until this year it was hard to find luggage for children except "play" bags made of paper and cardboard. These new pieces are as substantial as grownups' bags, they hold a good deal and give the children the joy of carrying their own.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 5 (AP).—Special five minutes over the credit situation was reflected in the extremely erratic price movements in today's stock market. Although several specialties were whirled up in spectacular fashion to new high levels of gains of 5 to 25 points, the general list appeared to be under pressure greater part of the session, losses of 1 to 5 points being distributed over a broad list of issues.
Call money opened at 5 per cent, the highest renewal rate since November 12, 1920, and held steady at that rate. Increasing holiday demands for funds, coupled with the disinclination of Federal Reserve banks to extend their purchases of acceptances, lead to predictions of 15 per cent call money before the end of the year.
Wall Street also was impressed with Secretary Mellon's annual report to congress in which he stated that the Federal Reserve System has worked for tighter money to restrict speculative activity, but that this action was not effective with respect to securities speculation.
Another series of favorable dividend announcements, and the publication of the weekly "Iron Age" review stating that pig iron production last month was the highest since April, 1927, and the largest November output since 1918, helped to revive bullish enthusiasm and started a general recovery in prices in the early afternoon.
Radio, which fell from 420 to 409, quickly rallied to 416 1/2. Wright Aeronautical made up most of its 11-point drop and A. M. Byers converted an early loss of 6 points into a gain of 5 1/2 by touching a new high at 201.
In the middle selling movement, Curtiss, Montgomery Ward, National Bellas Hess, Canadian Pacific and International Harvester dropped 5 to 6 points and National Biscuit, General Motors, Warner Bros. Pictures, Liquid Carbonate, Consolidated Gas, International Nickel, Cerro de Pasco Copper, Greene Cananea Copper and American Sugar Refining sagged 3 to 4 1/2 points.
Packard Motors led the afternoon rally by soaring 9 1/2 points to a new high at 150, one block of 11,000 shares changing hands at that price. Foundation Company ran up 10 points to a new top at 57 1/2. Western Union, Allis Chalmers, Federal Mining & Smelting, Motor Products, Keith-Albee Preferred and Mohawk Carpet sold 5 to 8 points higher.

A prayer service will be held from the late residence Thursday evening at 7 o'clock and funeral services Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Presbyterian Church in Monticello. Interment in the Hurleyville cemetery.

Peter Konopka of Cementon died at the Kingston Hospital on Saturday evening from injuries received while at work at the Alpha Cement Company plant. Earlier that week when he was struck by the stomach of a bar. He is survived by his wife and a number of children. Funeral services were held Tuesday morning in St. Mary's Church at Cementon with interment in Catskill.

Ira Hyde, life-long resident of Connelly, who was employed by the Cornell Steamboat Company as pilot on the tug John N. Cortis, died at his home, Tuesday, December 4. Funeral Friday at 2 p. m. from his late residence. Interment in Port Ewen cemetery. Besides his wife Mrs. Hyde is survived by one daughter, Esther R. wife of John Bell of New York city; two brothers, Lyman of Kingston, who is captain of the ferry transport, and Liberty of Connelly.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dittus, wife of Frederick Holstein, died this morning at her home, 27 West O'Reilly street. Funeral services from the late residence on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in Montrose cemetery. She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Cora, wife of Albert E. Smith; two grandchildren; two brothers, Christian and Henry Dittus, all of this city. Mrs. Holstein was an active member of the St. Paul Lutheran Church on Hasbrouck avenue.

The funeral of Jacob M. Hogan was held from his late home, 60 Smith avenue, Tuesday at 12 m. and at 1 p. m. in Ashokan M. E. Church, where services were conducted by the Rev. Fred Hulst. Interment was in Lenox cemetery at Ashokan. Mr. Hogan, who was born at Olive Branch, town of Hurley, Ulster county, 68 years ago, had many friends throughout the county. He came in contact with residents of practically every community in Ulster while acting as a representative of the Drake Remedy Company, who were always pleased with a visit from him, which they considered not alone a business routine but a friendly call. Previous to going with the Drake firm Mr. Hogan was employed by Everett & Treadwell, whose patrons also remember him as a kindly man of genial disposition. He will be greatly missed as one of Ulster county's most popular men. Besides his wife the following survive: three children, Henry Vance, Marion E. Hogan and Mrs. Edward Morse, all of Kingston; four grandchildren, Charles Delaney, Wesley V. Hogan and Robert V. Delaney, Kingston residents; one brother, Frank Hogan of Ashokan, and two sisters, Mrs. C. Chase of this city and Elmer Crum of West Hurley.

All are asked to attend and help make the children happy and bring friends.

The Braggart.

If you are a braggart, many people will want to humble you. The more you brag, the greater the danger you are in.—Atchison Globe.

Seek Local Talent For Xmas Revue

A Christmas Suggestion Revue, comprising local talent, will be staged at the Broadway Theatre on December 20 in connection with the regular program. The revue will be sponsored by and for the benefit of the Tuberculosis Aid Society for the advancement of vocational therapy. The society is working to establish a workshop where tuberculosis patients and their dependents can find graduated work under supervised medical control in accordance with their physical condition. The products, doctors' and nurses' supplies, are to be sold to the public at a profit to the society. The sole object of the project is the welfare of the patient.
Mr. Kornfield and Mr. Handel, who will arrange for the staging of the revue, are now in Kingston. They will seek the cooperation of local talent for the stage presentation, which will be of a fashion show nature. Revues of the kind have been successfully staged under the two men's direction at Port Jervis, Middletown and other communities of the state.

LIVE STOCK FOR SUCCESS IN GROWING CATTLE

Success in growing cattle for market depends to a large extent upon the start which is given the calves. This, made from the calf's breeding, is probably the most important consideration. In straight beef production only a small quantity of feed in addition to milk is needed for the calves up to weaning time, but nevertheless they should be taught to eat grain and hay so that the change during weaning will not result in loss of flesh.
When calves are intended for baby beef they should be started on some grain when between four and six weeks old. A mixture of equal parts, by weight, of shelled corn, whole oats, and wheat bran is satisfactory. The corn and oats may be fed ground until the calves become accustomed to eating; then they may be fed whole. When fed whole they are less likely to cause scour. The grain allowance should be increased gradually up to weaning time so that the lack of milk will not hinder growth and fattening.
Calves from cows that are milked should be taught also to eat supplemented feeds within a few weeks after birth. The quantity of grain and hay consumed at first necessarily will be limited, but should be increased gradually until the calf can do without milk when from six to eight months old. Fall calves that are fed skim milk and other feeds during the winter months put on very good gains on pasture the following summer.
After weaning, alfalfa or clover hay and silage may form the greater part of the roughage and one-half to three-fourths of a pound of cottonseed meal or linseed meal given in addition to grain. The grain ration may be increased gradually until the calves are receiving a fattening ration.
Calves that are to be finished on pasture may be handled in about the same way as those to be fattened in the dry lot. The grain allowance may be smaller at first but after the calves are turned on pasture it should be increased as they become able to utilize greater quantities of grain.
Calves that are to be "fed out" as long yearlings or two-year-olds or sold as stockers and feeders may be fed considerably more cheaply during the first winter. The winter ration may consist principally of silage and cheap roughages, but some concentrates should be used to keep the calves growing in a thrifty condition. They should be run on pasture the following summer and sold in the fall as feeders or fattened out the following winter as long yearlings. If it is desired to keep them longer, the cattle may be "roughed" through a second winter and fattened the next year.

Salt Fed Regularly to Hogs Ideal Plan

Salt fed regularly to hogs will pay in added pounds of pork. Without it they cannot make the fastest and most economical gains nor remain in the healthiest condition. Hogs do not need as much salt as cows, but they must have some in order to carry on the digestive functions properly. Salt is used chiefly in making the hydrochloric acid of the digestive juice.
Salt may be fed free choice style to hogs. However, if they have been without it for a long time there is danger in feeding it that way until they become accustomed to it. A pig getting too much salt will die of salt poisoning. There is little danger if it is fed in the form of large hard chunks or bricks.
If hogs are used to salt it may be fed in flaked form in boxes or self feeders. It is well to mix the salt with the feed. A pound of salt to 100 pounds of feed mixture is sufficient. Salt may also be added to the mineral mixture.

Colt Needs Attention During Winter Season

A colt should be fed rolled oats or coarse ground oats three parts and one part coarse bran. Begin feeding it as soon as it is a month old, using about one-half pint of this mixture, and increasing it according to the breed and size of the colt until at six months old it is receiving four quarts daily on good pasture and good hay. If the foal's dam is working, wean it at four months of age; otherwise at five to six months of age. If milk is obtainable, begin at weaning time feeding the colt one quart three times a day. This will produce bone and tone up the coat. Above everything else, remember to have the colt out in the sun every day that it shines. Keep it out of rainstorms and snowstorms after the winter coat begins to grow. Brush the coat often.

Garbage-Fed Hogs

There still is a great difference of opinion among producers of garbage-fed hogs as to whether the hog raised on garbage from the beginning is better than if on the market at about 100 pounds weight. As a rule the hog accustomed to garbage early in his life should be more successful, since this feed is bulky and a greater stomach capacity is necessary. The hog raised on garbage is started as a garbage-fed pig and his stomach is capable of being distended.

Fount of Philosophy.

I have learned more real philosophy hearing ordinary men talk than I have learned from books of philosophy. The talk of the ordinary man is tireless, but the worst of them occasionally drop a pearl that has been polished by experience.—E. W. Howe.

Those owning automobiles and wishing to take part in the parade that escorts Old Santa, may follow the parade through the city and let the good old scout know that Kingston welcomes him.

Society Notes

The Lowell Club met this week at the home of Mrs. Everett. Since the last meeting of this club they have lost, by death, one highly esteemed member, Miss Elizabeth H. Baker, and the president pro tem, Mrs. Conklin, paid a fine tribute to her memory at the opening of the meeting. Announcement was made of the lectures to be given by Bruce Bennett under the auspices of the Young Married Women's Club of the Y. W. C. A. The first paper of the afternoon on "Naples, Genoa, Milan and Pisa," which was given by Mrs. Hale, was so admirably presented as to hold the closest attention of all present. This was followed by a charming reading of "The Little Florentine Scribe," given by Mrs. Cole. The roll call consisted of quotations from "Two Gentlemen of Verona." The club at its business session voted to make the usual individual Christmas gifts to the T. B. Hospital. Next Tuesday the Lowell Club will meet with Mrs. Cole.

Hoover Arrives At Lima, Peru

Popular Welcome Accorded President-elect Hoover, making his second good visit in South America, entered the city of Lima today amidst picturesque scenes and a popular welcome seldom, if ever, accorded any foreign visitor here.
Flags fluttered in ancient streets through which famous Spanish conquerors headed by Pizarro once passed, in honor of the coming of President-elect Hoover.
Among the historic places that he will be shown is the government palace, also called the Pizarro House, where that Spanish conqueror was fatally wounded during an assault on his residence by adherents of Almagro the Lad. He also will be shown a fig tree that Pizarro is reputed to have planted four hundred years ago and which still produces fruit.
President Leguia will give Mr. Hoover some ancient relics as souvenirs of his visit. These include a golden Inca mask and a piece of woven material believed to have antedated the Incas. The President-elect also will be given a gold llama carved by Indians who like their ancestors still use this meek Andean camel for transportation.
Mr. Hoover yesterday saw the 16-inch guns of the Maryland elevated and swung about in practice. Officers of the battleship explained the details of their construction and use.
While at sea Mr. Hoover has been inspecting some part of the Maryland which is new to him each day.

Action on Kellogg Treaty Deferred

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP).—Consideration of the Kellogg anti-war treaty was deferred today by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee as its first meeting until Friday, when Secretary Kellogg has been asked to appear.
It was decided to hear the secretary on the treaty renouncing war as an instrument of national policy before going into its merits in any way. The committee session lasted but a few minutes.
Whether others beside Kellogg will be called has not been decided. The part has been endorsed by Chairman Borah, of the committee, and of Senator Swanson of Virginia, the ranking Democrat on the committee. No crystallization of opposition to the treaty has appeared.
Antique Dealer Leaves $200,000.
Schenectady, N. Y., Dec. 5 (AP).—Probate of the will of Charles E. Scott, antique dealer and real estate operator of this city, indicated that he left an estate of approximately $200,000 to his widow, Sara. It was announced here today. Upon the death of Mrs. Scott the estate will go to two sons, Russell, who will receive one-third, and Webster, who will receive two-thirds.

MECHANICVILLE VOTES FOR SUNDAY MOVIES

Mechanicville voted in favor of Sunday movies Tuesday by a vote of 1,500 to 425. Fifty-two ballots were blank. The vote followed a spirited campaign in which the churches opposed the move as a step toward commercialization of the Sabbath. There is only one motion picture house in the town since last winter when the other one burned.

Cold Wave in Rockies Broken

Denver, Dec. 5 (AP).—The cold wave which has centered over the Rocky Mountain region for the past two days and which plunged Montana into Arctic weather, with the temperature in one section of the state dropping to degrees below zero, apparently has broken today.

Chenook, Montana, which had reported an unofficial temperature of 10 below yesterday, and Havre, with an official recording of 22 degrees under the zero mark, today welcomed relatively mild temperatures of around zero. The mercury rose generally over the state.

Temperatures had moderated in Denver which shivered last night at 3 degrees above zero. Today's prediction was for fair and warmer weather.

Montana, New Mexico, Nebraska, Kansas, Idaho and Utah were promised warmer weather, and the weather bureau here forecast an immediate prospect for a return to the excessive cold farther north.

SENIOR LUTHER LEAGUE PLANS BUSY SESSION

At the regular monthly meeting of the Senior Luther League of the Lutheran Church several matters were discussed which promise to keep the Leaguers busy for the remainder of the year. Each member will contribute two Christmas gifts which will be distributed to the inmates of the City House.

A membership contest was begun with Pansy Ramming as captain of the hostesses and Karl Messinger as captain of the hostesses. The losers of course, will be expected to furnish "cats" at a social which will be held. The Leaguers will have charge of a candle light service to be held New Year's Eve at the church at 11 p. m. Preceding this service they will hold an international social. The Leaguers will meet at the church and then visit a number of homes which will be decorated to represent various countries and appropriate refreshments served. The Leaguers promise to make a hearty New Year's call at these homes.

The League voted to contribute a large sum toward new suits for the basketball team. The election of officers will take place on the second Monday evening in January. The nominating committee consists of Rose Keener, Caroline Port and John Houghtaling.

The Country Girl and Boy

By MARGARET M. LUKES

(Copyright)

KATHLEEN HIGGINS ran down the hall of the flat into her room and stood there in the dark for a breathless moment before she struck a match. Then in the sudden glare of gauntlet her eyes darted to the bureau. They traveled swiftly to the little table in the center of the room.

There was no letter. It was three days now.

She looked in the mirror and suddenly a great love for herself and her cheap pretensions arose in her. There she stood like a little doll, frizzled hair, flashy clothes, painted lips. And what did it get her? Not even an invitation to the White Palace Friday night. The angry look slowly faded from Kathleen's eyes and something like pain took its place. Charlie Hayes was getting tired of her. Some one who got more than $20 a week pounding a typewriter, some one who could spend more money on clothes than she could had won him.

In their weariness her eyes caught the eyes of her mother looking sweetly at her from out the frame on the bureau. Her lips trembled. All the things she had thrown away to come to the city six months ago, the town home she had been ashamed to tell big, handsome, stylish Charlie Hayes about, suddenly became dear to her.

It was two days later that Kathleen on the chabby stuffed platform at Frackville rushed pell mell into the arms of her mother. She had let him know. She had wanted just this, dad trying to tell her about the big new Giant Tire company plant, hadn't she read it in the city papers? Jack jumping up and down at her side yelling about his skates. And mother!

"For good, dear, you've come," she said, "not just a visit?"

"Nope, mummy, for good," Kathleen answered as they bundled her into a little car which was an acquisition since her departure. "Come home to make pies for daddy, and say, daddy, can I learn to run this thing?"

"You bet your life you can, but your mother's going to keep you mighty busy for the next few days, signed you up for the fair. Can I tell her, mother?"

"All right, here goes, sis: they've signed you up for the 'Sweetheart Booth'."

And that evening after the piping hot biscuits and fricassee chicken and the cheery conversation in the cozy kitchen they whisked her off to a committee meeting of the fair. What fun it was to say hello to everybody again!

But up in her little curtained room that night Kathleen stood for a long while in the moonlight and looked out the window. To say you are going to "get it" is one thing; to forget it, is another.

Now came three wild, flurried days of cake baking, crepe paper twisting and goodness only knows what. Then at last the night of the fair itself.

The "Sweetheart Booth," needless to say, was the center of attraction. Here eager-eyed girls in bright colored dresses stood ready to be "bought" for dances. One white dress stood out in contrast to the others. It was Kathleen's. "I'm tired of colors," she told her mother, and brought forth a ruffly summer thing. Her pretty golden hair was combed softly about her forehead. With her cheeks just softly pink as she whirled in the arms of one partner after another she was very lovely indeed.

Nobody noticed when, at ten o'clock, Kathleen threw her white wool scarf over her shoulders and slipped quietly out of the side door. That "sweetheart booth!" Boys and girls looking into each other's eyes. She could not stand it any longer. She made her way slowly down to the orchard where she played when she was a little girl.

All at once she realized some one else was there. Some one tall, with his hands in his pockets, was walking slowly in her direction. Kathleen stood stock still. Her heart turned a somersault. Was she dreaming this? There in the moonlight Charlie Hayes took the last steps toward her.

"Kathleen!" he cried as though he, too, were seeing a vision. "What are you doing here—out in the country?"

"It's where I live, Charlie," she answered in a strained little voice. "I only pretended I was a city girl—I lied." Kathleen was deeply ashamed. Then, "But, Charlie, what are you doing here?"

"Weaving out my heart for you," he said in boyish, even tones. "I ran away from you because I was broke. I was always afraid to stop taking you to places because I was afraid I'd lose you. Then I found out I couldn't keep it up any longer. I had to forget about you. You were out of my class. I couldn't even say good-by. I read about this new Giant Tire company in the paper, and that's where I am now. A bunch of the fellows came over to this stunt tonight. I took a look in. Everybody was too happy—I just couldn't stay. And that sweetheart booth—"

"That's where I was—at the sweetheart booth." She was like a fairy there in the old orchard. "It's where you buy sweethearts."

He stood there looking at her mutely. "Do you have to go inside to buy one?" he asked huskily. But he did not wait for his answer. Tight in his arms she heard him choke forth his love and then his own confession.

"I was a country boy, honey. I lied, too—lied to try to win you."

Amend Zone Ordinance

Hoffman street the Chamber of Commerce would not be advocating that it be allowed to enlarge. He said that for the past year the Chamber of Commerce had been trying to purchase the land on the Broadway side of the factory so that the addition might be placed on it, instead of further up the street, but the land could not be bought.

Central Association Approved.

Dr. Morton Lown, president of the Central Business Association, said that the association felt that more factories were needed in the city and believed that real estate values would increase rather than decrease.

"I would like to ask Dr. Lown a question," said Alderman O'Reilly, and turning to Lown he asked, "Do you think that property on Hoffman street will depreciate in value if the addition is built?"

"I do not," replied Dr. Lown.

Hearing Closed.

Alderman Helyea asked if there was any one else who desired to be heard and hearing no reply declared the hearing closed.

The council then went into regular session, and President A. Ray Everett said that as so many of those interested in the question, the regular order of business would be suspended and the matter of the proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance taken up for action.

Alderman O'Reilly's Idea.

Before a vote was taken on the proposed amendment Alderman O'Reilly was given the privilege of the floor and urged that the amendment be defeated. He said that if it were true, as some of those favoring the amendment had said, that it would benefit the city as a whole to have the factory enlarged, that it was no more than fair that the city as a whole should reimburse property owners who would be injured by depreciation of their properties. He suggested that a competent committee be appointed to judge the value of the properties before the erection of the addition and afterward and that the city pay the property owners the difference.

"Waving the flag is all right if it doesn't cost you anything," he said. He also suggested that probably many of the aldermen were not aware of the situation that existed on Hoffman street and thought it would be wise to have the aldermen inspect the property. It would not delay matters any to hold the matter in abeyance until next day when a special meeting could be held if necessary.

Several of the aldermen at that point said that they had inspected the property that day.

Alderman Haines of the Second ward said that it might for a short time depreciate values but then the time would increase. Alderman Fox of the Fifth ward said he was aware of conditions on Hoffman street and failed to see where the building of an addition to the factory would injure properties on that street.

Amendment is Adopted.

A vote was then taken on the proposed amendment which was adopted 12 to 1, the only alderman voting against the amendment being Alderman O'Reilly.

Other matters taken up at the meeting will be found elsewhere.

From Foreign Parts.

Harry Whitehead and a friend were strolling along the beach at Marblehead, Mass., where they engaged in conversation with a genuine "Marbleheader."

"By the way," said Harry's friend, "I happen to know one of your prominent citizens."

"Who is he?" asked the Marbleheader.

"Mr. So and So."

"He ain't at all prominent, nor entitled to prominence," indignantly replied the genuine Marbleheader. "That man has lived in Marblehead only sixty-seven years. He's a 'foreigner,' born in Salem."—Salem (Mass.) News.

Study in Birds.

In kindergarten little Mary held up her hand and remarked to the teacher in charge: "See, I am a little bluebird because I am all dressed in blue."

Hearing this, and not to be outdone, little William stood up and said: "I am a little redbird because I have red underwear."

Child Welfare Cost Apportioned

Supervisors' Committee Reports on Cost of Widows' and Orphans' Relief—Remuneration Introduced to Construct Bridge in Town of Rochester.

The main business of the county legislature will be about cleared up this week by the board of supervisors, although there have been no long meetings as Chairman Frederick Davis and Clerk Henry R. De Witt have expedited the business on the calendar each evening. Hearing more committee reports and later resolutions presented that they be adopted and levies made as recommended, occupied the attention of the supervisors Tuesday evening.

The committee on town and county accounts, to whom had been referred the report of the Child Welfare Board, reported that it had been found correct. It recommended that $1,600 be levied upon the county, $600 for office rent and $1,000 for traveling expenses and incidentals; also that $1,000 be levied upon the county and placed in the fund for the relief of children in care of custodians.

The committee recommended that the $10,636 that had been expended last year for relief of widows and orphans be apportioned and levied against the following: Esopus, $780; Kingston, $330; city of Kingston, $3,550; Marlborough, $1,080; New Paltz, $240; Plattekill, $300; Rochester, $600; Saugerties, $31; Rosendale, $390; Shandaken, $945; Ulster, $540; Wawarsing, $320; Woodstock, $30; county of Ulster, $943.32, and when collected paid to the county treasurer and credited to the child welfare fund. Filed, and later resolution to carry out recommendations laid over under the rule.

Other Committees Report.

The committee on errors in assessments reported amount claimed, $664.72; allowed, $664.72, chargeable against towns as follows: Esopus, $26.82; Ulster, $12.07; Wawarsing, $238.11; county of Ulster, $387.72. Filed.

The committee on county clerk and surrogate reported the report of county clerk as being correct, the amounts claimed being $32,550; amounts allowed, $32,550, and recommending audit of amounts allowed. Filed.

The committee on town and county accounts reported that they had examined bills of justices of the peace and constables for services in enforcing the dog license law and recommended claims in column marked allowed be audited and paid out of dog funds now in hands of county treasurer. Claimed, $833.67; allowed, $833.67. Filed and later adopted.

Farm and Home Bureau Reports.

The annual report of the Ulster County Farm Bureau requesting an appropriation of $45,200; the Accredited Herd Association, $3,000, the Home Bureau, $3,000, were presented and referred to the committee on appropriations, being same as last year.

Resolutions Introduced.

Resolutions were offered to levy $300 on First Supervisory school district; $400 on Second district; $300 on Third district; $300 on Fourth district, the amounts to pay district superintendents. Over.

Resolutions to adopt the reports of standing committees as above and carry out recommendations as to levies were offered and laid over.

Bridge for Town of Rochester.

Supervisor Dunsinberrie offered a resolution which was laid over that $4,000 be levied on the county for construction of a 25-foot span bridge in the town of Rochester known as the Frank Decker bridge, that plans and specifications made by County Superintendent of Highway Loughran be adopted and the bridge built under the supervision of the county superintendent as the highway law provides, and county treasurer pay out the fund for the work.

Several resolutions were called up and adopted.

On motion of Supervisor Halliday the board adjourned until Wednesday evening, December 5, at 7:30 o'clock.

MORRIS MAY SAYS

POLLING MONEYMOON

Chicago, Dec. 5 (AP).—Whether Arnold Horween will continue as head football coach at Harvard will be determined after the first of the year, when the former Crimson player returns from his honeymoon. Horween was married Thanksgiving Day.

A new contract was offered Horween after the Yale game and he is said to be seriously considering signing.

With Horween regarding his return to Harvard, football gossip has it that Jack White, whose resignation as head coach at Ohio State takes effect in June, might take over the position at the eastern school.
